OF KANSAS (or may say again, with Goethe

"Das unbeschreibliche, hier wird es getan."

"The undescribable, here it is done."

Three Kansas towns, Belleville, Chanute, Colby, run their own utilities and make enough money to get along without taxation. That seems to upset the well established Wall Street theory "public ownership can never pay in America."

Perhaps we are not as stupid or dishonest as we are supposed to be.

COLBY OWNS its water and light plant, municipal airport and municipal cemetery, and they yield profits that abolish municipal taxes.

Chanute owns its water, electric light and gas plants, airport, cemetery, tourist camp, swimming pool, auditorium and supports a municipal band.

Belleville owns its water and light plants. Mr. Doherty supplies it with natural gas. It owns its cemetery and airport, and supports a municipal band. If that be socialism, make the most of it.

GOOD COMES from evil, good may come from this depression.

A big oil man suggests a shorter working day, seven hours or even six, with commensurate reduction in pay, that more idle men may share in work.

The American Federation of Labor asks immediate adoption of a five-day week and six-hour day, with no loss in wages. Employers will not agree to that.

THE GOOD WILL come later, when the shorter day and five-day week become permanent institutions, giving for five days of seven hours the former pay for eight hours and six days.

IT IS TO BE hoped that the Farm Board will find a suggestion better than the proposal that cotton farmers plow under one-third of this year's crop.

No one would suggest that farmers destroy one-third of their wheat and corn, because that would be taking food from human beings.

Our friends in Russia laugh at some things we do, such as throwing perfectly good food overboard, to keep up prices. They will be much amused at "the incompetence of capitalism" if this nation admits that the only way to meet a price problem is to destroy precious properties, needed by millions of human beings. Russia is not plowing any ripe cotton back under ground.

RUSSIA LAST year printed 500,000,000 books, against 120,000,000 a year in the czar days. Books printed in Russia now, as formerly, are books that the government wants printed. Don't go there with any book intended to prove that Karl Marks was wrong, or that human nature can't be changed.

YOU CAN'T PRINT what Russia doesn't want; on the other hand, Russia's government orders things that are admirable. 20,000,000 copies of classics of all nations, 3,000,000 of books giving technical information.

The best seller is the "Collected Works of Lenin," only 50,000 copies of Karl Marx's "Capital" against 60,000,000 copies of Lenin. That Lenin book takes the place of the Bible, always the best seller in this country.

An ancient Jewish writer said:

"Jerusalem fell because the schools were neglected."

Moscow may fall, but it won't be for the same reason.

WONDERFUL ARE German scientists. One recenly explored the atmosphere 40,000 feet up. Another tells you that in Greenland the ice is 8,850 feet deep.

Greenland, according to those learned Germans, is like a great bowl filled with ice.

WE SHOULD be grateful that water, unlike a majority of other substances, expands with cold, instead of contracting.

If, like iron, copper, etc., water contracted, becoming heavier at low temperature, the ice would sink to the bottom of lakes and rivers, instead of staying on top to be melted by the sun.

Fish could not breed, navigation would be difficult or impossible.

By expanding the ice instead of contracting it, thus keeping it afloat, nature has done us a great favor.

PROF. BURNS, of Glasgow University, publishes through MacMillan a doleful book, "Modern Civilization on Trial," and he sees troubles.

Women are a menace, with their greater freedom, greater vitality, escape from household duties, continuous contacts with man, via motor car, movie and radio.

And war is always in the background. Europe spends $2,500,000,000 a year for war preparations, $500,000,000 more than in 1913. This country spends for war $658,000,000 a year, $340,000,000 more than in 1913.

WON'T QUIT, COYNE SAYS

Armstrong Seeks to Force Candidate Out of Fight By Defiance to Kline

Rumors that State Senator James J. Coyne, in spite of his vigorous campaign which apparently is gaining popularity, may withdraw from the County Commissioners' race have political gossip boiling.

To these rumors Coyne today replied:

"Nothing but death can take me out of the race, as I am getting additional support every day in a degree that indicates my success is assured."

But just the same the dopesters say Commissioner Joseph G. Armstrong has sent word to Mayor Charles H. Kline that unless he takes Coyne out of the commissioner fight the full strength of the county administration force within the city will be thrown to the support of the four "independent" Councilmen. The defeat of Kline's Councilmen would practically destroy the Mayor's efficient city machine—for the Council is the bone and sinew of the Kline-Coyne organization.

This is why, dopesters claim, that Babcock and John J. Cavanaugh were put in the fight at the last minute as a warning to Kline and Coyne that, while willing to let the city control remain in their hands, the county organization will brook no extension of their power.

HARRIS, JANE ON SECOND HONEYMOON

Son of Late Senator and Daughter of Magician Reconciled After Rift

Harry Harris, son of the late Senator John P. Harris, and his wife, the former Jane Thurston, daughter of the magician, thrice wed after a whirlwind courtship here 18 months ago, and separated a year later in a barrage of tear gas, have reunited in New York and today left on an automobile trip—a second honeymoon.

Everybody's happy, was the message accompanying the announcement of the reconciliation, especially Mr. and Mrs. Harris, who it had been rumored were about to settle their differences in the divorce courts.

'PERMANENT THIS TIME'

Said Mrs. Harris over the long-distance telephone last night:

"Yes, we are together again, and I am very happy!"

Mr. Harris took up the telephone and supplemented:

"You can tell our friends out in Pittsburgh that it's permanent this time—you know we were married three times."

Harris and Miss Thurston eloped and were married under assumed names to keep the wedding secret while Jane and her father, Howard Thurston, were playing an engagement here in January, 1930. Later, they were married the second time in a civil

LINDYS POISED FOR SEA HOP

NOME, Alaska, Aug. 14.—(AP.)—Col. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh will leave Nome soon after dawn (late this afternoon Pittsburgh time) for Safety Bay, 21 miles to the east, where their monoplane is anchored, to prepare for a takeoff for Siberia en route to Tokio, the flying colonel announced before retiring last night.

The trip to the plane and the hop-off depends on continued favorable weather reports from Siberia, Lindbergh said.

Their intention to extend their 7,000-mile trip by thousands of miles across Asia, Europe and the Atlantic, was disclosed here last night by Lindbergh to a few friends.

From the outset of their "vacation", begun on July 27 at New York, and during the several weeks of previous preparations, the only announced destination had been the Orient.

GAS BOMBS STOP MOB VIOLENCE

Remorse Over Murder of 4 Boys and Girls Tortures Trio in Solitary Cells

International News Service.

ANN ARBOR, Mich., Aug. 14.—The story of Michigan's most brutal crime, as it came from the lips of the torch killers of two boys and two pretty girls, was disclosed today as Fred Smith, Frank Oliver and David Blackstone began life-long sentences behind the sheltering walls of Jackson State Penitentiary, safe from mob violence.

As police labored tirelessly to learn additional details of the atrocious murders, the latest development was the arrest of Miss Katherine Keller, 25, reputed heiress and the alleged sweetheart of Smith, at her home in Ypsilanti.

QUIZZED ON CRIME

She was brought to the county jail here. Officers began an investigation of reports that she accompanied the killers early Tuesday when they robbed the young couples, attacked one of the girls, killed them and then burned their bodies.

The slayers spent a restless, sleepless night in their cage-like solitary confinement cells and a special guard has been posted over them to prevent possible attempts at suicide.

SLAYERS REMORSEFUL

All three men appeared greatly overwrought as they desperately paced their small cells all night long.

Smith declared:

"It was the liquor."

Oliver said:

"I deserve anything I get, even lynching."

Blackstone, a Negro, shivered as he muttered:

"I don't deserve to live."

Slayers Tell Own Story Of How, Why They Killed

Their confessions tell how and why Harry Lore, 16; Thomas Wheatley, 16; Vivian Gold, 15, and Anna May Harrison, 17, were slain.

Smith's confession said:

"I went to a blind pig with Oliver and met Blackstone there. We got disorderly on hooch. We didn't know what we were about. We decided on a stickup.

"We went in the grove on the South River road where the couples were. We stuck them up, and as one of the boys (Harry Lore) identified me and Oliver we took them to the Tuttle Hill road.

DRAGGED FROM CAR

"We took them there and in the scuffle the shooting started. Blackstone had gone and shot each one once—I am not sure which he hit. I stood alongside.

"They were not quite dead. I threw a heavy stone on Harry Lore's head. Then we drove to the County Line road.

"I put gasoline on the floor boards and started to drive away in my car. The boys

CLUE TO BOMB SUSPECT FOUND

A description of the bomber who wrecked the porch of Italian Vice Consul Giovanni Giurate, 514 North Neville street, has been obtained by Detective Michael Tortorelli of the bomb and arson squad. The suspect sought was seen running from the scene before the blast.

Detectives are watching railroad and bus stations.

A complete report of the bombing has been mailed by Public Safety Director James M. Clark to Gov. Gifford Pinchot.

Clark told the Governor that he had taken a personal interest in the inquiry and received daily reports.

Gov. Pinchot telephoned Director Clark for a report of the bombing after receiving a request from Acting Secretary of State William R. Castle for details. The report will be given to Italian Ambassador DiMartino.

Girl Quizzed in Shooting Of New Jersey Banker

NEW YORK, Aug. 14.—(AP.)—Roy Yates, 35, New Jersey state Senator, banker and prominent clubman, was shot and seriously wounded early today in an apartment. He was taken to a hospital and Miss Ruth Jayne, 25, found in the same apartment, was questioned by police.

Yates is married and the father of three daughters.

The hospital was notified by Miss Jayne by telephone at 1 o'clock this morning that a shooting had occurred in the apartment. Police, who said they were not notified of the shooting until three hours after Yates was taken to the hospital, found a pistol in a courtyard in the rear of the apartment.

Miss Jayne was incoherent, they said, and could not tell them how the shooting happened, but when they asked if she knew Yates they asserted she replied:

"Yes, too well."

Dr. Maier, the ambulance surgeon, said that Miss Jayne's neck showed black and blue marks and that she told him she could remember nothing except that someone had grabbed her by the throat.

Ethel Barrymore's Butcher Seeks Pay

NEW YORK, Aug. 14.—(AP.)—Judgment for $2,046.48 was filed against Ethel Barrymore in the county clerk's office. Meyer W. Ross, attorney for Andrew W. Larson, owner of the Eagle Market, identified the defendant as the actress, and said the claim represented an unpaid butcher bill.

He said the actress admitted her indebtedness to the market.

Hoovers to Spend Week-End at Camp

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14.—(AP.)—President Hoover will go to his Rapidan camp tomorrow.

Late in the day he probably will be joined there by Mrs. Hoover, who will motor from Newport News, where tomorrow she will christen two ships.

MELLON SAILS FOR HOME

VILLEFRANCE, France, Aug. 14.—(AP.)—Andrew W. Mellon, American secretary of the treasury, sailed for New York today aboard the steamship Conte Biancamano.

Secretary Mellon sailed for what was described as a vacation trip in Europe on June 10, but while abroad played an active part in the negotiations which followed President Hoover's proposal for a year's holiday on war debts and preparations.

Thaw Greets Firemen Buddies From Paris

WINCHESTER, Va., Aug. 14.—Although unable to participate in festivities associated with the annual conventions of the Cumberland Valley Firemen's Association and the Virginia State Volunteer Firemen's Association, being held here, Harry K. Thaw, a volunteer fireman of Winchester, wished success to the joint event in a message from Paris.

PARIS, Aug. 14.—(AP.)—Mary Garden has been asked to open the new season of the Opera Comique at the National Theater on October 2 in "Pelleas and Melisande." She has not yet replied.

Banker's Son Works Years To Pay $1,200,000 Losses

NEW YORK, Aug. 14.—(AP.)—A story of 14 years' toil to earn $1,200,000 with which to pay off the losses of depositors in his father's bank was revealed by Robert G. Jenkins.

The story became known through the filing in Nassau County Court of a satisfaction of judgment for $406,014.62, which represented the last installment of the losses, paid dollar for dollar.

In 1907 the First National Bank of Brooklyn crashed. The president, Robert G. Jenkins, Sr., died of a broken heart six months later. His son, then a 26-year-old assistant cashier, vowed to pay off the depositors.

With part of the money salvaged from the wrecked bank he set up a brokerage firm. On October 4, 1921, he paid off the last cent but neglected to file the satisfaction of judgment until just recently, when it became necessary to close a real estate transaction. He said:

"The family got in trouble and the family has paid its debts. The family name is clear."

DOAK ADVISES CO-OPERATION

SILVER BAY, N. Y., Aug. 14 (AP)—A plea for co-operation and understanding between employer and employe during the "trying times" from Secretary of Labor W. N. Doak was read to the smaller industries conference today. The Secretary said:

"Men and management engaged in any line of business are primarily actuated by the desire for personal gain. This desire, however, in our enlightened day must be modified by the personal respect which each group owes to the other.

"The returns for service may be designated as profits or earnings, but any commercial business must show satisfactory financial returns if it is to exist and advance and otherwise fill its proper place in the industrial or business field. When contented and satisfied workers are allied with fair-dealing and considerate employers the combination is an unbeatable one."

GANDHI TRUCE LIKELY

SIMLA, India, Aug. 14 (AP)—At the end of a long special session of the viceroy's executive council this afternoon it became known that the government authorities believe a way may be found to enable Mahatma Gandhi to attend the round table conference at London next month.

The working committee of the Indian National Congress decided yesterday it would have to part in the conference, charging the government had committed serious breaches of the Delhi pact between Gandhi and Lord Irwin, the former viceroy.

Lord Willingdon is disposed now to examine the more serious charges regarding breaches of the pact, but he is unwilling to set up a board of arbitration at Gandhi's demand, and he is opposed to returning any taxes already collected from peasants on the grounds these were collected under the ordinary tax laws and not by duress.

UNIONTOWN, Pa., Aug. 14—Enveloped in flames a few seconds after fire originated in the engine of a truck near Somerfield early today, the truck trailer and a cargo of 708 tires from Akron, O., were destroyed and two men, Irving and Harry Brady, brothers, narrowly escaped injury. The loss is estimated at about $15,000.

HONEYMOONING AGAIN!

Jane Thurston Reconciled With Harry Harris

ME AND MRS. HARRY HARRIS . . . NOW THEY'VE RECONCILED

Jane Thurston, daughter of the magician and Mr. Harris, Pittsburgh son of the late Senator John P. Harris, reconciled—permanently this time—they're telling their friends. After a whirlwind courtship two years ago, they eloped married three times.

CITY CHANGES FOOD BIDS

New specifications for furnishing foodstuffs for the City Home at Mayview were announced today by Col. W. R. Dunlap, director of the department of supplies. Col. Dunlap said all bids opened three weeks ago and which were protested by Attorney J. Garfield Houston counsel for the J. W. Houston Company, wholesale grocers, would be returned and new bids readvertised at once.

In the new specifications bidders will submit quotations on definite amounts of food as it is needed. In the discarded specifications which Houston protested no amount was specified and no allowance made for changes in quotations.

Decision to readvertise for bids was reached following a conference with a number of former bidders and grocers here who did not put in bids. Houston in his letter charged that the old specifications were unfair.

QUESTION GIRL IN CURRAN CASE

Gladys Ulman, secretary to Morris Curran, North Side beer racketeer, who was shot to death in Perrysville avenue June 24, was taken before Assistant District Attorney Earl R. Jackson today for questioning.

She was brought in by County Detective Frank Malone after District Attorney Andrew T. Park informed of her testimony at the coroner's inquest yesterday started a renewed search for Curran's slayers.

Miss Ulman, in her testimony yesterday, said Curran had quarreled with other members of the yeast and sugar union—an organization supplying beer racketeers with materials and equipment—prior to his death.

TEAR GAS BATTLE

Last March they separated after an open break in Detroit, when the magician father discharged a tear gas pencil at Harris when the son-in-law, he said, attacked him in a hotel room. Assault and battery charges were filed against Harris, but later were voided when neither party appeared at the time of the hearing.

Future plans of the couple were not revealed and it was not known whether Jane would continue in the show with her father, with whom she has been appearing in a music-magic extravaganza for the past three years. Father and mother had nothing to say about the Thurston show next season, both expressing happiness over the reunion, however.

Mrs. Thurston said:

"Harry is a lovely boy and I am overjoyed that Jane and he have made up."

Mr. Thurston added:

"They will be happy—and so will her mother and I."

Labor Against Baird For N. J. Governor

TRENTON, N. J., Aug. 14 (AP)—The Democratic state committee today released a letter written by William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, in which he stated: "The American Federation of Labor is very much opposed to the election of former Senator Baird to the governorship of your state." David Baird, Jr., is the Republican candidate. His opponent is former Governor A. Harry Moore.

lighted a match and threw it into the young couples car as we drove by. Then we went home."

Oliver's story was practically the same. He told police that the lynch mob was $7, and skipped through the morbid details of the attack. Each one charged the other with assault.

PLANNED BURIAL

The man rambled on at great length.

"Blackstone made one of the girls get out of the car. We tried to make Vivian get out but she said that she would rather die. So he shot her. He attacked the Harrison girl then.

"Lore, who had been beaten and was on the ground, attempted to get up. Blackstone knocked him down. He grabbed a rock and hit him with it."

The man told that they first had planned to bury the bodies and had scraped a shovel for that purpose but then decided that it would require too much time.

"So we soaked the bodies in gasoline and burned them."

Blackstone's confession, combined with the statements of Smith and Oliver in the main details. However, the Negro denied attacking the girls. He charged that Smith and Oliver had.

Gun and Bloodstained Clothes in Girl's Home

Miss Keller, when arrested in an early morning raid on her home, bitterly said:

"I hate cops. Why don't they leave me alone. I'm not guilty of anything."

The woman was dressed in a faded green dress; she wore no stockings and her hair was in curlers. Police seized a second revolver and some blood-stained clothes belonging to Smith in the woman's home.

The niece of the late Judge Darwin Curtis, Miss Keller was reported to have inherited $38,000.

"It all dwindled away in debts. I had to take in boarders to make a living. Smith sometimes stayed at my home. That's as much as I know about it."

Lynch Mobs Balked By Tear Gas Attack

The closing of the doors of the prison at Jackson, 38 miles away, a few minutes before midnight, ended the most riotous day in the history of this university community.

Four times angry crowds attempted to snatch the prisoners from a half hundred officers guarding them and impose their own penalty.

The first attempt occurred at Ypsilanti, eight miles away, where the three men were arrested, questioned and confessions obtained.

The second came when they were brought here and placed in the county jail.

The third in which tear bombs were used to disperse angry residents pressing against police cars, took place as the prisoners were being transferred to the court house for sentence.

The fourth attack was made as police began the trip to Jackson with the prisoners.

Judge Bitterly Scores Slayers in Quick Trial

The windup of the most sensational crime in Michigan in many years came with breathtaking rapidity.

The clue that provided the key for the solution of the case was the finding of the gun used to slay the victims. It was established that the gun had been in the possession of Smith and the arrest of the three followed. They confessed, were held for trial, tried and pleaded guilty all in six hours.

Judge Sample then pronounced sentence, life imprisonment in Marquette branch prison on each of four counts, the terms not to run concurrently. The passing of the sentence in this manner practically removed all possibility of parole.

Before imposing judgment, the judge said:

"I don't wonder that the crowd is howling for vengeance. If they had listened to this testimony, I am afraid they would not be as civil as they are.

"The testimony made me heartsick—that our highways and our places of pleasure should have to be infested by such worms."

THE NATIONAL POLICE IN HAVANA RAIDING SECRET REBEL ARSENAL UNDER GUNFIRE

Fines, Jail Terms Increase Under Big Dry Army

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14 (AP)—The first month's work by the biggest federal dry army in history was reported today by the Prohibition Bureau to have produced more, bigger and better cases than did the smaller force in the corresponding month of July last year.

It was disclosed that federal agents engineered 6,623 cases in which arrests were made, that 5,003 men were ordered held by commissioners, and that 1,139 jail sentences totalling 482 years were imposed along with 1,471 fines aggregating $221,185.

Prohibition Director Woodcock, however, was chary of placing too much weight upon the cold figures produced by his statistical division. He said:

"It's true that we produced more cases this July than last, but it's a little too early to make definite comment. The most significant thing is that a greater number of jail sentences were imposed.

"We like to assume that the cases were more important and better made, but we can't tell definitely yet."

The federal dry chief pointed out that although a greater number of fines were imposed this July than last, the total of all fines was not as great. In contrast, however, he cited the 1,139 jail sentences as against the 857 for July, 1930.

FAMILY ROW MARKS HOMECOMING OF GYPSY CAPTIVE

SISTERS CLASH AFTER 33-YEAR SEPARATION

Girl Taken by Band When 5 Years Old, Remains in Car As She Reaches Old Home

POTTSVILLE, Pa., Aug. 14.—(AP)—Miss Mary Rebecca Hubler, kidnaped 33 years ago by a band of Gypsies, came "back home" and saw sister, Mrs. John Geurtling, of Pottsville, once more today, but only for a few minutes.

The long-lost woman did not even alight from the automobile of the Rev. M. R. Harvey, evangelist who helped he establish her identity and brought her here.

No demonstration and no happy tears marked the reunion. Instead neighbors intimated that there was something of a family quarrel.

At any rate Miss Hubler and Mr. Harvey drove on towards the home of a cousin, Samuel Hubler, who lives on a small farm back in the mountains.

Miss Hubler, who came from Lynchburg, Va., has been known to herself and to others as Annie Morgan. Details of her kidnaping had faded with time and her experiences as a Gypsy captive were a chapter she never wanted to remember.

KIDNAPED BY BAND

One day in 1898 as she played on a country road she saw a group of gypsies approaching in a wagon. They stopped and when they started again the child was in the wagon with them, a captive.

When she failed to return home a party searched the nearby mountains. The hunt went on for days and finally was abandoned.

After seven years the Gypsies, captive whom they had named "Annie Morgan," escaped in Pamplin, Va. For 13 years she lived there, then went to Lynchburg in 1916 to become a housekeeper for a Lynchburg couple.

IDENTITY LEARNED

Recently Mr. Harvey and his wife became interested in "Annie Morgan." They wrote to the postmaster of Philadelphia. A story was published last week in Philadelphia papers and was read by two of Miss Hubler's relatives and arrangements were made for her reunion with her family here.

Some of her brothers and sisters are no longer living. Her father and mother are dead.

COUNTY CLOSES WABASH DEAL

The County Commissioners today authorized, unanimously, the issuance of $4,200,000 bonds for the purchase and re-conditioning of the Wabash tunnel and the bridge.

The Commissioners and the Pittsburgh and West Virginia have agreed on terms for its purchase.

The bonds will be County Commissioner bonds. Of the issue, $3,000,000 will go for the purchase of the property, and $1,200,000 for repairs and making it usable.

Police Seize Guest Shooting at Host

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 14.—(AP)—Charles Shapley, 40, of Los Angeles, was arrested early today as he stood with a woman beside him firing shots into the home of Earl Glessner. Glessner told police, they said, that Shapley and the woman, Miss Jeanne Sears, of this city, had attended a party at his home last night. Shapley became angry about something and left with the woman.

Miners' Children To Hold Tag Day

Although lacking a city permit, 1,000 children of striking miners will hold a tag day in Pittsburgh tomorrow to collect funds for food, according to announcement by the relief committee of miners in Pennsylvania, Ohio, West Virginia and Kentucky. The announcement said a permit was refused by the City Welfare Department because no approval had been obtained from the Chamber of Commerce.

Weather Disturbance Reported in Tropics

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14.—(INS.)—The Weather Bureau today reported a tropical disturbance of small diameter but of considerable intensity central about 225 miles southeast of Swan Island, which is about 300 miles off the southwestern coast of Cuba.

John D.'s Grandson Fined $5 for Swim

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Aug. 14.—(AP)—John Rockefeller Prentice, grandson of John D. Rockefeller, was fined $5 and costs in the West Haven Town Court by Judge William L. Larash for bathing in the Maltby Lake reservoir. Edwin Hendrie, who was with Prentice, was fined $5 on the same charge.

Prentice, who worked his way through Yale College by serving as night telephone operator at the New Haven Hospital, is a student at the Yale law school.

Beaver Falls Hero Saved After Rescue Fails

BALTIMORE, Aug. 14.—(AP)—Wilbert P. Murphy, a 26-year-old scholastic at the Jesuit House of Studies at Woodstock, Md., was drowned while swimming in the institution's outdoor pool. John B. Murray, also a scholastic and a resident of Beaver Falls, narrowly escaped with his life as he tried to save Murphy, whose home is at South Orange, N. J.

The Pittsburgh student was dragged under the water in his struggle to save his companion's life. He was rescued by other swimmers and revived through artificial respiration. He was taken to a Baltimore hospital where his condition was reported as serious.

The two scholastics went to the pool with other students and priests shortly before 6 o'clock. Suddenly Murphy was seen to be in distress and Murray went to his rescue.

WALKER SEEKS HEALTH AT SPA

BERLIN, Aug. 14.—(INS.)—Mayor Walker, of New York, and his party was expected to leave Berlin today for Karlovy Vary, formerly Karlsbad before its transfer under the peace treaty from Germany to Czechoslovakia.

There New York's chief executive wil drink the healing waters of the famous Sprudel Geyser in quest of health.

Bank Robbers Caught After Gun Battle

CARTHAGE, Mo., Aug. 14.—(AP)—After a gunfight with a score of Springfield officers, in which one of the burglars was wounded, two men who stole a three-ton safe from the bank of Avilla, Mo., and carried it away in a truck early today, were captured near Halltown.

Woman Electrocuted Standing in Wine Dumped by Raiders

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Aug. 14.—(AP)—Mrs. Helen Vasilzevic, 39, stood in a pool of wine which formed in the basement of her home last night when it was dumped there by federal prohibition agents. Then she reached up, touched a defective electric cord, and was electrocuted.

Authorities presumed Mrs. Vasilzevic was engaged in cleaning the basement after the agents had left. Her husband, taken into custody on a prohibition law charge, was [illegible] of her death for several hours. A [illegible] and a bucket found the body, the [illegible] left by the agents for confiscated [illegible] still clutched in her hand.

Coroner Henry Grumman said there would be an inquest at which W. Frank Cunningham, deputy federal prohibition director and federal agents would be asked to testify. The facts discovered, he said, would be presented to the district attorney.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14.—(INS.)—An investigation into the electrocution of Mrs. Helen Vasilzevic in her home in Milwaukee following a prohibition raid by federal officers was ordered today by Prohibition Director Amos W. W. Woodcock.

No report has been received of the fatality, but Woodcock acted on press dispatches asserting:

"It is the policy of this department to carefully investigate all cases where fatalities occur in the enforcement of prohibition. In this case it is not clear that the agents were to blame, but we will investigate just the same."

BODY IN OCEAN NOT CRAMER'S

CLEVELAND, Aug. 14.—(AP)—Officials of the Trans-American Air Lines today said a body of a man reported seen floating near the Shetland Islands yesterday probably was not that of either Parker D. Cramer or Oliver Paquette, missing trans-Arctic fliers, if it were dressed in flying togs, as reported.

Officials of the line, which backed the flight, said the men wore ordinary street clothes. Hope was still expressed by the officials who clung to the possibility that the fliers were safe on some remote island in the northern waters or on some vessel without wireless which is yet to make shore.

They do not plan to abandon hope until either the bodies or the wreckage of the plane are picked up and identified.

Freed, Man Sues Over 'Third Degree'

SAN DIEGO, Cal., Aug. 14.—(AP)—Moss E. Garrison, recently acquitted on a charge of murdering Hazel Bradshaw, his sweetheart, has filed suit for $50,000 damages from former Police Chiefs Percy J. Benbough and Arthur Hill, Acting Chief James Patrick, half a dozen police officers and two bonding companies.

Bradshaw bases his suit on alleged third degree methods employed by the police during the time he was an inmate of the city jail.

Extradition Asked For Pal of Burke

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Aug. 14.—(INS.)—Gov. Louis L. Emmerson today issued a requisition on the Governor of Michigan for the return to Illinois of Gus Winkler, alias Blackie, and pal of "Killer" Burke.

Winkler now is in a hospital in Benton Harbor, Mich., suffering from injuries sustained in an automobile accident. He is wanted in Illinois for trial on bank robbery charges.

Boy Burglar Killed Breaking Into Store

CLEVELAND, Aug. 14.—(AP)—An unidentified boy, about 14 years old, was killed early today while trying to break into a grocery store by forcing open a window when he was shot by two charges from a double-barrel shotgun arranged to fire automatically when the window was lifted.

GRIFFIN RIVALS' OUSTER ASKED

Charging that one of the signatures to the petition placing the name of Henry Griffin, Negro, in the race for nomination for alderman in the Fifth Ward bore the address of Oakland cemetery, a suit was filed in Common Pleas Court today asking that Griffin's name be thrown out. Fradulent and forged signatures were placed on the petition, the suit alleges.

The suit was filed by Attorney H. P. Eberharter, on behalf of Louis Shiring, Jr., and charges that Griffin's name was placed on the ballot as a plot to confuse voters who desire to cast their ballot for Martin J. Griffin, now Fifth Ward alderman and a candidate for the nomination.

Investigation of the names, the petition charges, revealed that 2804 Berthoud street, purported to be the address of William Jones, is the address of the Oakland Cemetery; several other signatures were obtained fradulently, while others signed blank petitions believing they were being circulated in behalf of Martin J. Griffin. Henry Griffin, the suit alleges, has been a resident of the Fifth Ward only three months.

Weather Conditions.

The eastern high pressure increased considerable in intensity and developed eastward to the Atlantic coast. The highest pressure reported is 30.38 inches at Boston and at Elkins, W. Va. It covers the whole country east of the plains states. Another rather weak high covers the Rocky Mountain states and the Northwest. Separating the two highs is a narrow trough of low pressure extending from Western Ontario southwestward to Arizona. This pressure condition produced scattered light showers over the Atlantic coast states, sprinkles of rain in the Upper Mississippi Valley and thunderstorms in the Central Rocky Mountain states.

Maximum temperatures continued relatively low over the eastern states, but there was a slight rise over the plains states. Temperatures were 90 degrees or above over the western plains and between 80 and 90 degrees over the eastern and central plains.

River Conditions.

The rivers are stationary or falling slowly. Stage at Franklin is 1.6 feet. Lock No. 7, 11.2, Pittsburgh, 10.6, Dam No. 4, 9.3, Dam No. 6, 7.7, Dam No. 10, 8.5, and Dam No. 13, 6.1. The dams are 56.

Jack Returns Estelle's Car, Accord Hinted

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 14.—(AP)—Estelle Taylor's missing automobile is coming home, and the return of the expensive machine promises a speedy settlement of her prolonged divorce negotiations with Jack Dempsey, the former heavyweight champion.

The actress' attorney, Joseph Scott, said he had been informed Dempsey was sending the big car back from Reno, Nev., where he had been since it was taken from Miss Taylor's chauffeur while she was attending a Hollywood garden party recently. The automobile was a gift from Dempsey to his wife.

The return of the car, Scott explained, followed an ultimatum from Miss Taylor that all negotiations toward a friendly divorce would remain at a standstill until it was surrendered to her.

Youth Faces Quiz In Child's Drowning

WOODSFIELD, O., Aug. 14.—Whether Louise Hartman, 10, of near Paden City, W. Va., was "ducked to death" in the Ohio River by a boy bully may be determined today when Prosecuting Attorney J. K. Sawyers, of Monroe County, resumes an inquiry into the child's drowning last Saturday. The Hartman child and her three sisters were bathing in the river when a 17-year-old boy is alleged to have "ducked" them. Louise drowned.

Chicago Woman Dies Of Strange Disease

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., Aug. 14.—(INS.)—Mrs. H. Wallace Caldwell, wife of a member of the Chicago Board of Education, was dead today, victim of a rare disease called agranulocytosis, which destroys the white corpuscles in the blood. A rare drug, ademine sulphate, was rushed by plane, but injections of it failed to bring improvement.

SHOWS ANGLE AS TRISECTED

How an angle looks after it has been tri-sected—a problem that has attracted the attention of the country, was chalked today on a Pitt blackboard by Prof. Forest A. Foraker, geometrician at the university.

The division of the angle was accomplished by one of the numerous ways to do it and according to the principle set down by Archimedes, ancient Greek, 225 B. C.

The interest followed the assertion that the Very Rev. J. J. Callahan, president of Duquesne University, had solved the "unsolvable" by tri-secting an angle by Euclidean geometry, which mathematicians take to mean by straight edge (ruler) and compass.

They maintain those mathematicians that it is impossible to tri-sect by ruler and compass method, and that the impossibility has been proved. They are awaiting appearance of Dr. Callahan's book, in which he explains his theory.

Firm to Announce First Akron Flight

AKRON, O., Aug. 14.—(AP)—As the last pieces of apparatus for taking the dirigible Akron out of its dock for its maiden flight neared completion today, William C. Young, head of the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company aeronautics department, said the time of the flight will be announced definitely beforehand in time to permit the public to gather at the dock.

The only thing that might delay the takeoff is the weather, but it may be two or three weeks or longer before the ship is ready, he said.

Officer Shot Dead While Quizzing Pair

WICHITA, Kan., Aug. 14.—(AP)—Patrolman Merle Colver was shot to death in a hotel room here today while questioning two men. Police were searching for Frank Van, Kansas City, and Ralph Caraway, Cherryvale, Kan., registered occupants of the room, lifted.

STORM TOSSES NAUTILUS NEAR ARCTIC

Bridge Swept Off, Sleeping Men Tossed From Berths, Wilkins Sub Continues

By CAPT. SIR HUBERT WILKINS

Commander of the Wilkins-Ellsworth Trans-Arctic Submarine Expedition.

By Radio via American Radio News Corporation and Radio Marine Corporation.

ABOARD THE SUBMARINE NAUTILUS, Aug. 14.

Further north than any submarine has ever been, the submarine Nautilus was rounding the southeast corner of Bear Island, midway between Tromsoe, Norway and Spitzbergen.

The injection fuel valves are still giving trouble but we expect to finish fitting them while traveling in the lee of Bear Island. Then with two engines we will complete the run to Spitzbergen.

Early yesterday we entered into a storm which forced the deck watch below and we had to navigate by means of the periscope. Seas swept over the deck carrying away the light canvas bridge, as happened on the Atlantic crossing.

Occupants of the starboard side bunks were flattened against the iron wall of their compartment, while on the port side men were spilled from their berths until they lashed themselves to their bunks.

For six hours the sea was high and dangerously choppy and then the wind and sea moderated. Since that time we have had clear sunshine and lowering temperature.

GERMAN LANDS IN GREENLAND

LONDON, Aug. 14.—(INS.)—Another hazardous flight across the Atlantic was recorded today when news reached this city of the arrival at Scoresby Sound, Greenland, of Captain Wolfgang Von Gronau, German aviator flying in a seaplane to Chicago.

According to a dispatch from Reikjavik, Iceland, which city Von Gronau left yesterday at 12:45 P. M. Pittsburgh time, the plane arrived at the chilly port on the coast of Greenland at 5:59 P. M.

One of the most dangerous laps of the extreme northern route across the Atlantic now lies ahead of Von Gronau. He must fly across the inland glacier of Greenland where a forced landing would be perilous because the interior is uninhabited and virtually inaccessible.

Chicago-N. Y. Mark Beaten by Hawks

ROOSEVELT FIELD, N. Y., Aug. 14.—(AP)—Capt. Frank M. Hawks broke another record yesterday when he flew from Chicago in 3 hours and 49 minutes. He brought back an Indian headgear from Hot Springs, S. D., where he was made a Sioux tribal chieftain.

Ruth Nichols Ready To Try Out Plane

ST. JOHN, New Brunswick, Aug. 14.—(INS.)—Ruth Nichols will make test flights this week-end for another attempt at a trans-Atlantic hop, Miss Mabel Jones, nurse, who has been attending Miss Nichols since her accident here, said today on returning from Rye, N. Y.

Witness Immunity Requested in N. Y.

BRYAN WORKER TURNED DOWN

The McKees Rocks Citizens Committee scored its second victory today in its campaign to remove followers of Miles H. Bryan, Republican political leader, from the borough's election boards when Judge James H. Gray appointed Joseph S. Kownacki, non-party inspector of the Second District of the First Ward.

Kownacki was appointed over Bernard Wasinski, recommended by the Bryan faction. He replaces E. W. Goling, also a Bryan man and a borough police officer.

Seven of Bryan's men still holding certain county or borough jobs in addition to serving as election officials, which is contrary to the Constitution, resigned from the boards when a petition was presented to Judge Gray in Common Pleas Court, asking their ouster.

He was graduated in South High School and the Pittsburgh School of Accountancy and is attending night classes at University of Pittsburgh to get his degree.

PEN FEUDISTS PERIL WARDEN

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 14 (AP).—Herbert Smith, warden of the Eastern State Penitentiary, has been threatened with death if he continues to interfere in a feud between imprisoned members of two rival gangs.

The threat was the purport of an anonymous letter received last night by the warden as he sought the reason for an outbreak Sunday which sent two convicts to the prison infirmary with serious knife wounds and five others into solitary confinement. The letter warned:

"Keep out of this fight or you'll get this."

Its signature and the stem to which the word "this" referred was a drawing of a large dagger dripping with blood.

SMITH HINTS PARK LAX IN RACKET WAR

District Attorney Cites Own Record After Primary Foe Denounces Machine Link

District Attorney Andrew T. Park and Deputy State Attorney General Ralph H. Smith are still on speaking terms, even though they did meet on the same platform as opponents for the Republican nomination for District Attorney.

Both spoke at a meeting in the North... Republican Club, ... Ave. at ... Mt. Zion Lutheran Church, Pe... Negley, a former ... night.

Smith spoke first and declared that he has no personal quarrel with Park.

ATTACKS ORGANIZATION

He said:

"My quarrel and it is one of the issues in this campaign, is with the old type of organization politics of which I once was as much a part of as Andy Park is. It is the organization that has stuffed the registration lists and the ballot boxes. I think it has outgrown its usefulness. Andy is standing four square for the organization and I believe he is honest and sincere in his beliefs.

"The mechanical efficiency of the District Attorney's office means nothing. It is a well oiled machine manned by capable assistants. There are rackets—numbers, slot machines and others — which the District Attorney should take the initiative in stamping out. I am against the organization. I know it from stem to stern and it's rotten throughout.

"In this ward we have heard the firing of gangsters' guns. Human life is getting too cheap and I think it is the sworn duty of the District Attorney to take the initiative rather than wait for these matters to come to him through the channels of the local police and justice courts. That's where Andy and I differ in our opinions."

PARK CITES RECORD

Park said:

"I appreciate very much the complimentary remarks of my young opponent about the efficiency of my office. It is working like a well oiled machine. I have never had the schooling in organization that my young friend has had. I never asked anybody whether I could announce my candidacy. I did it when I took office a year and a half ago. I have spent what I think were the best nine years of my life in the District Attorney's office establishing a reputation for honesty, industry and fair dealing. I started at the bottom without any political influence on my behalf and I believe I have established such a reputation. I value this reputation higher than any office within the gift of the people and when I am returned to the office no person will ever have any reason to regret that he supported me."

John D. Graham, candidate for recorder of deeds; Charles A. Waldschmidt and Alexander P. Lindsay, candidates for Common Pleas Court Judge, also spoke at the meeting. About 100 persons attended.

Judge Candidate Held Able Lawyer

Attorney Andrew E. Sheridan, chairman of the Lawyers' Committee supporting the candidacy of N. L. Wymard, for judge of County Court, has issued a statement of the candidate's qualifications. He declared:

"Attorney N. L. Wymard has been practicing before the courts of Allegheny County for 16 years and his ability to study and analyze legal problems is recognized by members of the bar as one of his greatest assets in his quest for judicial honors."

Bench Appointment 'Surprise' to Drew

SCRANTON, Pa., Aug. 14. — (INS) — Retention of his post on the Superior Court by Judge James B. Drew, of Pittsburgh, until he is elected to the state supreme bench, was assured today.

Carrying his campaign for election to the Supreme Court into Lackawanna County, Judge Drew explained he had not resigned from the Superior Court when appointed by Gov. Gifford Pinchot to the supreme bench recently, because of pairs of work and emphasized his declaration that he will not go on the high court until elected.

His appointment by the Governor, the Pittsburgh jurist said, came as a surprise to him because he had not voted for Gov. Pinchot and did not support him in the last campaign.

Improved Golden Bantam Corn

HOMEGROWN doz. 17c HOMEGROWN

Large, well-filled ears and fine flavor make this corn superior to the old fashioned golden bantam variety. How good it will taste with gobs of McCann's butter! Why not have a corn boil this weekend?

N.B.—The proper way to boil corn is to bring a kettle of water to the boiling point. Put the corn in and boil 10 minutes. Corn should be served immediately. If it stands in the water it will lose its flavor and become tough.

All In A Day

By Mark Hellinger

Why Columnists Go Daffy

"I READ YOUR recent column," writes A. C. F., "about the man who was searching for his daughter and who met you in Greenwich Village. Although you had a twist in the end, which would make it seem that your story was more or less a gag, it gave me the idea that you would possibly be able to help me in a search for my wife.

"I do not have to tell you, Mr. Hellinger, that she was the most wonderful wife in the world and was absolutely devoted to me. We never had any arguments of any kind. We were just about as happy as any couple could be, and I looked ahead to a long life of great joy with the most devoted of all women.

"About [illegible] months ago a young man called at our home and made me feel that you all take. Why He was so emphatic, so both my wife and I do something worth wife and I were very kind to him.

We gave him the freedom of our home and he was more like a son than a stranger. He was not a[n] unpleasant Mr. Hellinger, because he made excellent company for my wife and me.

"After dinner at our home about a month and a half he suddenly left.

"Upon his return to my home he told me 'because of some urgent business to attend to' he would have to say goodbye to your wife and would you please tell her for me.

"You have been wonderful to me and when I come back to New York I will certainly return to board at your house.

"I thanked him. And he left.

"It was on the very next day that my wife mysteriously disappeared. First our friendly boarder was gone and then my wife. Since then I have searched hospitals morgues and police stations for her but I can find no trace of her.

"You can understand and appreciate my feelings Mr. Hellinger. She was the most devoted woman in the universe and I know she must be very unhappy without me. What would you suggest that I do.

I would suggest first of all that you give up the idea that your wife is the most devoted woman in the world. And then I would suggest that you go to Louisville.

"I HAVE DONE quite a bit of vaudeville around the home town," writes Frederick Burns of Atlanta, Ga., and I have felt that I would like to break into vaudeville. You must understand, of course, that my vaudeville [illegible] very primitive, the [illegible] never had an interest of taking it up seriously.

"My firm suddenly went out of business, however, and I was thrown out of work. My friends have always told me that I was very clever at imitations and things and I guess that maybe I should try vaudeville. If I could like I could quit.

"There is only one difficulty and that is I'm married. I've been married for only seven months and I wouldn't like to go on a tour away from my wife. Do you think that a vaudeville act could get a permanent booking around Atlanta? If not could you please tell me where the average vaude act plays the offenses?

The average vaudeville act plays the offenses on the street corner at Forty-seventh street and Broadway.

"YOU [illegible] columnists make me sick," writes Frank Wilson. "You spend all your time glorifying the underworld. Every time something happens to a big shot racketeer you immediately start writing about him. And attempt to prove to the public that the racketeer isn't as bad as a lot of people think.

"Why do you feature so that all the time? Do you get a rake-off from the guys? I'll bet you do.

"It strikes me that if you sat around at night [illegible] drinking your life away with all sorts of underworld characters you must know a great deal about what they are really. If you people who, as the saying goes, 'make' the [illegible] would [illegible] and tell [illegible] you know there would be [illegible] of the world as it is.

"Here are a few things I would like to [illegible] nickle [illegible] up some [illegible] never be [illegible] without [illegible] gun. [illegible]

"Who killed Cock Robin? What does Dr. Doyle know that he won't tell? Why do [illegible] get the [illegible] fellow [illegible] racketeer a[illegible] shot. [illegible]

"I'm sick and tired of the racket

"DEAR MARK," writes Heartsore. "Please excuse my writing you, [illegible] I am a total stranger [illegible] and [illegible] be able to help me.

"I am [illegible] about [illegible] If [illegible] I would [illegible] I am [illegible] but I am [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

Dear Sally Martin:

"I wonder if you can't help me?

"It is about my mother. No matter what I do for her I cannot please her. You see, my husband and my mother do not talk to each other. They had a scrap some years ago. I have tried many different ways to make them friends again, but it is no use. She is just a stubborn as he is. She won't meet him. She will come over once a week and spend the day with me or did. But she would come with a grouch. Then for the whole day, she was complaining about my husband or about my brother and his wife. But I would cheer her up, send her away with a smile, whenever I could.

UNREASONABLE

"I gave her all kinds of groceries and dressed her from head to foot. My brother pays all her bills. Besides that, she has extra money for any trinklets she may want . . . and money in the bank. Still, she tells friends of mine that I do not give her a thought. Just because I refused to give her money. I knew if I did, she would just put it in the bank and not spend it on herself at all.

All this has been going on for a long time. Then, last year, my husband and I went to Europe to see my mother-in-law, and she got sore about that.

I sent her lovely letters — and got mean answers. On my arrival home, she was very cold to me, and now she refuses whatever I offer her. I have mentioned my mother-in-law to her, yet she tells my friends that I care more for my mother-in-law than I do for her. I thought she was just a little jealous, and that if I left her alone for a little while she'd get over it. But now it is six months since we met. She refused a Mother's Day party I wanted to give for her, also a week-end in the country.

My friends tell me to go to her and make up. She is old — 70 years — and you have to have patience with her," they say. But I have tried to make up. I have tried to make appointments by 'phone, but she always has some excuse not to see me.

WANTS SPOTLIGHT

What can I do? And what is wrong? Yes, she is old, but you should see her at parties and dances. She acts much younger then. Please help me.

ANNA.

What's wrong with Mamma? She's spoiled! That's what's wrong with her! She wants a lease on the spotlight . . . and when the kids, being busy husbands and wives, don't give it to her, she throws a fit of sulks like any 2-year-old whose nose is out of joint.

Are peevish, selfish, cantankerous old ladies entitled to any more consideration than peevish, selfish, cantankerous youngsters?

Does Age entitle 'em to respect and petting, regardless? Or is it up to them to earn respect and love, like the rest of us have to earn it.

What do you think, Clara? Bob?

Couples Betray Their Love No Matter How Far They Are Apart—Fay King

By FAY KING

A couple who are in love may be separated by the full length of a large banquet hall, yet one glance exchanged betrays their interest in each other to everyone about them.

A couple may be posed in the most affectionate pictures, yet when love has waned between them everyone is immediately more or less aware of it.

No amount of denials in either case is the least bit convincing. They themselves cannot disguise the true state of affairs.

We see a girl clinging to her man with affection and adoration but his glance wanders elsewhere.

We see a woman hold her man by snapping and snarling and scaring off every other woman who may approach him, but his interest has already strayed.

Message Contains a Warning of Attack by the Chinese

"Ready—isn't the word," Dicky said explosively as Harry Underwood finished his analysis of the pseudo bank robbery, by declaring he was ready to hear the message contained in the oiled-silk bundle, if the rest of us were. . . . Our tongues have been hanging out for a half-hour while you've been broadcasting your sherlockian theories to the world. I'm not saying they're 'unpleasant-word-used-in-trenches-during-war' — or anything like that," he grinned provocatively at his friend. "In fact I agree with your deductions, but I'd like to hear the real dope in the oiled-silk package."

You probably will if you can ever quit your favorite diversion of hearing your silvery tongue babble on and on into the moonlight," Mr. Underwood told him, and then my father with an amused smile at both delinquents, opened the oilcloth packet and took from it a piece of parchment, at which he looked closely before passing it to Lillian.

"Indelible ink isn't it?" he asked. "Will stand water?"

She looked at it carefully, then nodded an assent and my father took back the parchment.

"They took no chances upon its being delivered before reaching us," he said. "I would not be afraid to wager that we will receive a telegram from New York City some time today telling us to look out for it. If they choose, as they will, a busy hour in a large city exchange and use a fake address below whatever signature they use, the chance of tracing them is negligible. Now, let's see what they say."

He adjusted his reading glasses with mandarin slowness, read the parchment through, and then, with a troubled glance at us, read it aloud:

"Dear Friends in Convocation Assembled:

"How do you like our little game of Box, box who's got the box?

"Oh yes we'll coyly admit we haven't the box as yet, but let us whisper something into your more or less shell-like ears.

"We didn't expect to get the box this morning.

"What's more, we wouldn't have that box in our possession just now for any money you could hand us. Later, that's another thing. But now, NIX! NIT! NON! NO!

"We were simply trying to impress upon you and the bank how easy it would be to rob that respected institution. Incidentally, my friends, let us say in passing as it were, that if we had really planned to rob that bank it would have been robbed with celerity and dispatch. Make no doubt about that, and consider it when you weigh this further statement that we know we now have made it well-nigh impossible to get into the aforesaid bank with crowbars or yet rolling pins.

"There are more ways of skinning a rat," says the old proverb, "than by beginning at the tail," and we shall mine our time especially for the present.

"You'll not be annoyed further by us as long as the box stays safely in the bank. I tell you this on the word of a crook, but a man of his word. You probably will be annoyed by another set of men, who for some incomprehensible reason seem to be attracted by the same outer object.

"Tell Monsieur Cora not to hire any Chinese paper, and to watch out for a distinct increase in numbers in Sag Harbor's most eminent Chinese social circles.

"Hope your ladies were not too much frightened by our little joke.

"The Four Drown-deaded Men of Peconic Bay."

"Well!" he said at last. "What do you think of it?"

"First that old Harry pinned his hope," Dicky said enthusiastically. "Marvelous intuition, my boy." He clapped his friend upon the back with much the force of a mother bear removing her half-grown cub and the big man wriggled his shoulders.

"Gently my lad, gently," he said ruefully. "Not quite so much enthusiasm. It seems to me, Chief," he turned deferentially to my father, "that we can take this bird's word and forget about him and his friends for a while and concentrate on the Yellow Peril with capitals."

"I agree with you," my father said, "and do you realize this letter bears out our suspicions that Braxton was behind this other attempt to get the box?"

"How?" Dicky asked, then quickly answered his own question. "Oh! yes. Braxton was in China. Lil says when this mess began. He'd get that information before anybody else."

My father rose with deliberation.

"This simplifies matters," he said. "We only have one set of men to deal with, for I'm ready to accept this fellow's statement," he tapped the parchment. "It has all the earmarks of truth. But I'm afraid we're in for it with that Chinese gang. Lillian, will you take Margaret upstairs and see that she goes back to bed at once? Your husband and Barbara and I must plan the guarding of the farmhouse, and those Chinese know their hands, and there is no need of you being saddened with it."

Correct Manners

The Steamer Letter

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

1. What are the requisites of a steamer letter, please?

2. When one does not know the name of the steamer, can the letter be sent to the friend's regular address before she sails and just marked "steamer letter?"

DAILY READER.

1. In a steamer letter we tell of our happiness that our friend is to have this voyage and of our high wishes that the way be one of joy and delight.

Your letter might read something like this:

Dearest Jane:

I am sending you a check of good wishes for a most happy and delightful trip. My thoughts will be encircling with you every step of the way. I shall be calling to you, knowing all my thoughts must and I will be [illegible] for about [illegible] that you [illegible] and many happy hangovers.

I have ordered some books sent to you from the bookstore's library, and since they are proudly chary about the countries you are planning to visit, I hope that they may occupy some hours on deck.

Every dearest wish to you, and every prayer for the perfect journey.

Affectionately,

2. Yes.

A Puzzler

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

How should I write a note asking it being rude, asking to spend a week with a friend and wishing to pay my own expenses?

INQUISITIVE.

I can conceive of circumstances in which such a letter would be in good taste. I really could not know how to write such a letter. If you will write me again and make clear to me the circumstances which would [illegible] such a letter, I shall be glad to answer it. But such a letter would demand that the reason for such a request be made perfectly clear.

After-Theater Eats

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

I go out frequently with young men and after a theater or show or dance they usually suggest going some place to eat. I always decline because I am at a loss as to what to order. Will you please give me a few hints?

A READER.

I have a very full list of suggestions of things to order after the theater. I recorded everything I could think of from the humble roll and coffee to the patrician dishes "under glass." Would you like a copy of it? It is called "After-Theater Eats," and if you will send me an addressed envelope I shall be most [illegible] a copy.

The Beauty Box

By HELEN FOLLETT

White spots on the finger nails are caused by injury to the matrix, that's why it is better to use an orange wood stick to detach cuticle from the nail base than to work with a steel instrument. No application will have any effect upon the spots, in time they disappear.

Extreme high heels are responsible for large ankles. The feet can't get a firm foothold on the pavement, the ankle bone is in a state of uncertainty and motion. A dainty, well-turned ankle is a beauty asset. If girls are to retrieve in this quality of perfection they must be more mindful of footwear, have hosiery properly fitted.

Tiny red marks on nose or cheeks are caused by ruptured capillaries. Red blotches on the skin that remain persistently require medical attention, since some stubborn infection may be the source of the trouble. Large pimples that never come to a head are not to be tampered with by unskilled fingers.

Long haired ladies need not worry if the ends of the hair are split. After a certain age hair pinches forward six inches a year and fluffs off at the ends six inches a year. Split ends are Mother Nature's way of getting rid of the dead of finger nail ends that do not have attention.

How to Keep Well

By DR. ROYAL S. COPELAND

Modern Life and Your Health

Constipation is probably the most common disorder of the American people. The prevalence of this condition has been attributed to the modern methods of living.

Dr. Copeland

It has been known for years that sedentary habits cause this condition. Our ancestors, whose daily livelihood required marked muscular activity, rarely if ever complained of this symptom.

The food of today is different from that which our forefathers were accustomed to eat. Highly concentrated foods and foods made by chemical processes demand too little work of the body.

Lack of exercise, the high pressure of modern living, together with negligence of the daily elimination, make a combination that results in chronic constipation. The constipation, in its turn, produces an undesirable reaction upon the body.

The victim of constipation rarely arises in the morning eager to do his day's work. There is sluggishness of mind as well as of intestine. In addition, the body is likely to have its defense against diseases considerably lowered. In consequence, such individuals are prone to all types of infection.

It is not entirely the fault of our eating—it must not be forgotten that constipation may be caused by personal laziness.

The habit of regular elimination is really established in children and its importance should never be overlooked. Children should be trained in the importance of the habit of regularity. This habit once established will remain throughout life.

There should be a change from the sedentary life to an active one if the adult is to overcome constipation. People who have not indulged in exercise should start in a moderate way and increase the exercise depending upon their age and physical condition.

In addition to exercise the diet is important. Vegetables and fresh fruits should be eaten at two of the three meals of the day. Food should be properly chewed and never gulped down without chewing.

Answers to Health Queries

M B E O A Q: What causes a discharge of blood every time I blow my nose?

A: This may be due to a catarrhal condition.

N B Q: What is the best way to reduce the hips and stomach?

A: It is difficult to reduce weight in any part of the body without reducing in general. A gradual reduction in the amount of food consumed, with the regular exercise, will work wonders in most cases.

B M I Q: What causes spots in the form of watery blisters to come on legs and feet? They are very itchy.

A—This may be due to eczema.

Household Hints

Don't forget to air your cake and bread boxes regularly. Bread will keep much longer and in better condition.

Careful washing with soda water will remove the soot that accumulates on the painted walls above and around the range, but you must not let it get too dirty before washing, for it will streak and show.

Whenever you know definitely what caused the spot or stain on the dress to be cleaned by the professional cleaner, write the name on a slip of paper and attach it to the spot with a paper clip. It will save experimentation by the cleaner, which frequently is the cause of injury to the garment.

Lace collars will retain their shape and will not tear if they are basted to a piece of white cloth before they are washed.

Some of the newer housekeepers prefer the roll of paper toweling in the kitchen instead of the old-fashioned linen roller towel. It means no hall-combed towels and no laundry bills. Also the paper toweling is excellent for draining foods that have been fried in deep fat.

If you use glass straws a great deal you really need a package of pipe cleaners to keep them bright on the inside as well as on the outside. Iced tea is apt to stain the glass straws unless some action is taken, and milk is also hard to remove from them.

BOGGS & BUHL

7% —AND THESE SIX REASONS— POINT TO AN INVESTMENT IN
Hearst Consolidated Publications, Inc.
7% CUMULATIVE PARTICIPATING CLASS A SHARES
Preferred as to Assets and Dividends
1—SECURITY
This investment represents a participating interest in twelve strong and profitable publishing enterprises of William Randolph Hearst, including ten great metropolitan dailies, the American Weekly Magazine and the American Newsprint Company. They serve large, growing key cities strategically located throughout the nation. Valuable holdings of downtown real estate, modern plants and printing equipment strengthen the investment quality of the issue.
2—PARTICIPATION
7% cumulative dividends, payable quarterly—and in addition, the right to participate with the common stock in additional dividends, as declared, up to an extra 3%.
3—STABILITY
The newspaper is not only an ingrained daily habit of America—but it is a valuable source of revenue through the need of merchandisers to advertise their products. It is today one of the great industries of America. During 1930—a year of generally quiet business conditions, the publishing enterprises comprising this group earned $4.29 a share on all Class A shares to be presently outstanding, against regular dividend requirements of $1.75. For the first half of 1931, this stock earned at the rate of $2.64 a share, against dividend requirements of $.87½, a record which testifies to the stability of this investment under all conditions.
4—DIVERSIFICATION
Income of the newspapers is derived from both the Atlantic and the Pacific seaboards, from the industrial areas around the Great Lakes and from Western Pennsylvania—while the American Weekly Magazine has the greatest circulation of any periodical in the world, reaching weekly over 5½ million people scattered throughout the United States—truly nation-wide diversification.
5—MARKETABILITY
Application will be made to list this stock on the New York Curb and the Chicago, San Francisco and Los Angeles Stock Exchanges.
6—TAXATION
Dividends received on this stock by individuals are not subject to normal Federal Income Tax.
Price $25 a Share
This stock may also be purchased on the payment plan—$5 down and $2 monthly per share. All payments earn 7% from the day received.
Where can you duplicate this nationally diversified investment in old-established, uninterruptedly profitable, growing enterprises that will return 7%—with security—and afford opportunity for a generous additional participation?
HEARST CONSOLIDATED PUBLICATIONS, INC.
The coupon will bring you, without obligation, full details about this 7% stock. If more convenient, you may obtain information or place subscriptions at the office of Hearst Consolidated Publications, Inc., Sun-Telegraph Building, Telegraph Square, Pittsburgh, Pa., or at the cashier's office of any Hearst newspaper or corporation in the United States.

Laura R. Martin Is Married to W. C. Kernahan

Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Martin, of Crafton, announce the marriage of their daughter, Miss Laura R. Martin, to William C. Kernahan, son of J. W. Kernahan, of Crafton, which took place August 7 at 8 o'clock in the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. F. N. Wolf, of Crafton.

Officiating was the Rev. Roland O. Hicks, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Crafton. The bride wore peach chiffon and lace and had a corsage of sweetheart roses.

Her only attendant, Mrs. T. M. Martin, Jr., wore yellow flowered chiffon and had a corsage of bronze roses. Richard Kernahan was best man.

After an eastern wedding trip, Mr. and Mrs. Kernahan will be at home in Craftmont avenue, Crafton.

Millions Willed To Provide Home For Spinsters

CHICAGO, Aug. 14 (AP)—Before the store clerk $2,500,000 or so he got to work in behalf of Chicago's unmarried ladies of artistic birth and breeding who have reached the age of 60 years.

This was announced by the executors of the estate of the late Mrs. Susanna Kring Bell, whose will provides the $2,500,000 for the erection of an old ladies' home of a type for said spinsters. The building is to be "not unlike Hillsboro Inn and will cost between $350,000 and $400,000."

FLAGS FOR VET BURIALS HERE

Postmaster James B. Anderson has received 137 government burial flags to be used in military funerals. They are a part of 1,000 flags received by the United States Veterans Bureau here and distributed to postmasters in Western Pennsylvania.

They may be obtained by the next of kin of deceased veterans and nurses of any American war and are to be used in draping the casket. After the funeral the flag automatically goes to the nearest relative.

The flags are nine feet six inches long and five feet wide.

DINNER, SHOW FOR NEWSBOYS

Pittsburgh will be host today to 40 boys, newsboys of the Chicago American, a Hearst newspaper, who are refugees from a tour to the 10 cities of main points of interest in the East.

The Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph is providing a dinner for all in the Grant Room of the William Penn Hotel in honor of the newsboys, at which Congressman John M. Phillips, former state Game Commissioner and expert on wild life, will be the principal speaker.

As an added treat during their brief stay in the city, the boys will be the guests tonight of Capt. Merle, skipper of the Goodwill Boat Showboat, who is presenting the old-fashioned melodrama, Fast Little.

Erie-to-Gulf Road Boosters Set Meet

The Automobile Club of Pittsburgh announced that a meeting of representatives of cities and automobile clubs will be held in Americus, Ga., August 25, to organize for the improvement of U. S. Highway No. 19, from Lake Erie to the Gulf of Mexico. The highway is paved from Erie to Weston, W. Va., 150 miles south of Pittsburgh, and is hard-surfaced through part of the South.

Pittsburgh Guard Ordered to Hospital

HARRISBURG, Pa., Aug. 14 (AP)—Private Eugene F. Bellus of Headquarters Battery, 107th Field Artillery, Pennsylvania National Guard, Pittsburgh, has been ordered to proceed to the Walter Reed General Hospital, Washington, D. C., for treatment. Bellus was injured August 7, 1930, while in training at the National Guard artillery training camp at Tobyhanna.

Injured Ex-Mayor Suffers Relapse

BALTIMORE, Aug. 14 (AP)—Former Mayor William F. Broening, who was injured in a fall five weeks ago, suffered a relapse at his home but his personal physician said his condition was not serious. The doctor said he was not at liberty to state the nature of Broening's ailment.

The former city executive was injured last winter as an elevator in City Hall in which he was a passenger fell. Later he fell from a porch chair while asleep at his home.

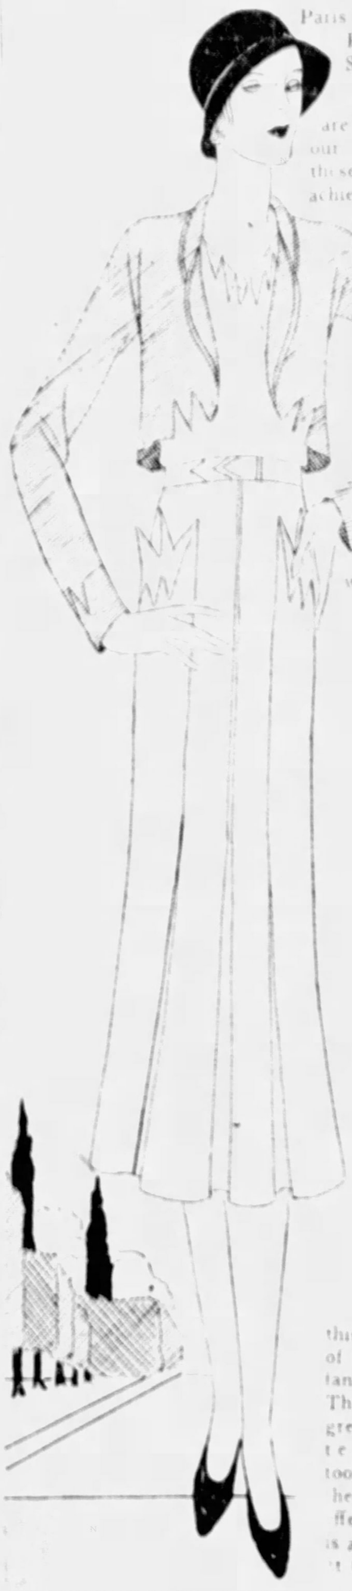
Manila Opens Drive For Beautification

MANILA, (AP)—Extensive public improvements have been made in Manila in the last year, resulting in lessening traffic congestion, better sanitation and beautification of the city.

NEWEST FROCKS FEATURE INSETS

Sketched in Paris



Paris Bureau,
Pittsburgh
Sun-Telegraph.

PARIS, Aug. 14.—We are quite set on insets in our frocks. For wherever those are placed, there is achieved the necessary molded or flat line. Especially is this necessary in the skirt, where from the hips to the knee, the close line is preferred, as it gives the slim effect we all so admire and desire. Very cleverly do the dressmakers contrive frocks whose line is slenderizing and graceful, without being too molded or given the effect of stiffness. This is the dressmaker's art at its highest, and is something that cannot be easily duplicated.

THE FROCK or ensemble of thin fine wool is registering strongly and will be part of the street scene as the summer season wanes. We show today a sketch of one of Chantal's latest efforts in this medium. The frock is of brown thin wool with a tancy, one toned weave. The little coat is of grass green wool of the same texture. The jagged toothed effect worked into the seams and edges makes effective trimming. There is a touch of white lingerie at the neckline.

Girl, 11, Stops Here On Long Plane Trip

CAMDEN, N. J., Aug. 14 (AP)—Carol Tumbaugh, of Broomall, near Philadelphia, completed a 1,100-mile airplane trip from Kansas City, Mo., unaccompanied except for her fellow passengers and thrilled at her experience.

The girl boarded a large passenger plane at Kansas City. The plane, due here Wednesday night, was forced to remain at Pittsburgh overnight because of poor flying weather. Four of the passengers took Carol to a motion picture show to help spend the time. She attends a private school in Kansas City and hopes to return by plane in September.

L. DOHENY GRAVELY ILL

Doheny's personal physician, Dr. L. G. Vrooman, said he would consult the oil man's family regarding the issuance of a statement and until then he would not comment on his patient's condition. He did, however, deny that Doheny, who is 75 years of age, had suffered a paralytic stroke.

It was not revealed whether Doheny was a patient in his Los Angeles home or at his nearby Beverly Hills estate.

Doheny was acquitted by the District of Columbia Court in 1929 of having offered a $100,000 bribe to Albert B. Fall, secretary of the interior in the Harding cabinet. Fall, however, was convicted of accepting a $100,000 bribe from Doheny and is now serving a sentence of a year and a day in the New Mexico State Prison at Santa Fe.

Drunkenness Gains In England, Wales

LONDON Aug 14 (AP) The number of convictions for drunkenness in England and Wales during 1930 showed an increase over the previous year for the first time since 1924. Home office statistics disclosed arrests numbered 53,680 as compared with 51,996 in 1929.

Coal Firm Appeals $8,000 Land Award

The Pittsburgh Coal Company asked $35,000 damages from Allegheny County for property taken for the improvement of state highways 168 and 545 in South Fayette Township near Bridgeville in an appeal from an $8,500 award by the Board of Viewers filed in Common Pleas Court. About two acres were taken necessitating removal of a garage and filling station, barbecue house and office building, the suit alleged.

CANNON TAKES APPEAL

WASHINGTON Aug 14 (AP) Counsel for Bishop James Cannon, Jr., today appealed from the decision of the District of Columbia Supreme Court which refused to grant Cannon's request to block the senate investigation of his campaign funds in 1928.

The appeal was filed upon order of the bishop of the Methodist Episcopal Church South, who is in Europe.

Meanwhile, the senate committee is going ahead with its inquiry late this month or early in September. The District of Columbia Court of Appeals under regular procedure would not rule on the appeal until fall. Counsel for Bishop Cannon agreed today there was no way to stop the Senate investigation pending a ruling on the appeal.

Williamsport Band Marks 100th Year

WILLIAMSPORT Pa Aug 14 (AP) The Repasz Band, known as the oldest brass band in America, today opened a two-day celebration to mark its hundredth anniversary.

Organized in August, 1831, the band has the distinction of having served in three wars—the Civil War, Spanish-American War and the World War. It was the official regimental band of the old 12th Regiment, Pennsylvania National Guard, from 1903 to 1912.

Oriental Laborers Forced from Ranches

EXETER Cal Aug 14 (AP) Filipino and Hindu laborers today had left at least two ranches in this vicinity as a result of a demand made on the ranch owners by a crowd of approximately 200 white laborers.

The white laborers visited the ranches of Henry Dalis and Harry Tachiura, grape growers, and demanded they discharge the orientals or suffer the consequences.

COTTON RELIEF PLAN SCORNED

WASHINGTON Aug 14 (INS) The Federal Farm Board's revolutionary proposal that the South destroy a third of its current cotton crop in an effort to force a higher price for the remaining two-thirds has been met with almost stark scepticism or outright hostility.

Under the circumstances there were few officials here today who believed the plan has a chance of being put into operation or of being successful if tried.

None of the governors of the 14 cotton states has replied officially to the board. But their unofficial comment together with that of southern senators and Congressmen make it clear that the South as a whole has little faith in the efficacy of the drastic remedy which the board proposes to apply.

Fleeing Girl Worried Over Boy Friend

Synopsis

While the newsboys shouted, "All about the big gang killing," Fanchon Meredith and a man named Tony planned their getaway. Tony gave Fanchon $4,000 and reserves passage for her under the name of "Miss Smith" on an airplane chartered by the wealthy Mr. Eames en route to New York. A fellow-passenger, whom she had previously met on the boat coming from Hawaii, recognizes Fanchon.

Now Go On

CHAPTER II.

The girl sitting in the next arm chair to Fanchon jerked her head toward the rest of the party.

"Know them?" she asked.

Fanchon indicated that she did not.

"How strange," said Fanchon's chance-met companion, "that we should meet again here . . . on such a trip." She giggled nervously. She was a girl about Fanchon's own height and build, rather mouse-like, with blue eyes and dark brown hair and a small, prim mouth . . . "I have to punch myself that it's actually I—Evelyn Howard" she added.

Fanchon turned her glance from the country over which they were flying. The Eames party were chatting steadily. The plane was flying steadily, gaining height and speed. Because of the noise of the motors Evelyn's voice had been pitched high. Now she leaned nearer to Fanchon.

"My dear, the most marvelous thing has happened to me!" she said.

"What has?" asked Fanchon, a little wearily. But she tried to force some animation into her glance, her response. She was to travel with this girl as her companion, she was forced into intimacy with her. She wondered . . . can she suspect . . . ? has she read the papers? but of course, even if she has, she can have no cause for suspicion! I must be going crazy! The engine took up the theme . . . Going crazy . . . going crazy . . . said the engines . . . Tony . . . Tony . . . Tony . . . they said.

NEVER SAW RICH AUNT

"It's like a novel," Evelyn was telling her. "You know I was out in the Islands, teaching for two years? When my contract was over I came on to San Francisco—with you—as it happened, to find a job there. I landed one, in a private school. And while I was there I had word that my only close relative, an aunt whom I have never seen and who has been living in Europe for 30 years had returned to the States and wanted me to come live with her. She's Mrs. Allison Carstairs," said Evelyn importantly and stopped, waiting Fanchon's word of astonishment.

"Carstairs?" asked Fanchon, puzzled and uninterested.

Evelyn made an excited gesture.

"Haven't you heard of her . . ? She's always in the papers," she said . . . "she has oodles of money, goes everywhere, knows everyone. You see when my mother, who was much younger than Aunt Jennie, ran off with my father, the family cut her off, they wouldn't have anything to do with her. Poor Dad, he was a struggling professor of English and mother

Can't Neglect Racket for Mere Term in Prison

—By ARTHUR 'BUGS' BAER—

Sentenced racketeer and bootlegger gets 30 days to arrange his affairs, which consist of more racketeering and bootlegging.

The court must have grabbed that decision from an old Keystone comedy entitled, "Fun in a Turkish Bath."

This wouldn't have happened if Congressman Sol Bloom wasn't busy accepting Lord Cornwallis' sword at Yorktown. Sol got there a century-and-a-half late. But reported progress.

Some other noble citizen suggested that the South burn one-third of its cotton crop, boost prices, get rid of the mice and collect insurance on the barn.

That should be all right if they don't light three barns on one match.

For light summer reading this month we suggest the last six clauses in your life insurance policy.

The trouble in the Democratic national committee has spread to Cuba.

DRUG STOCK FRAUD SUSPECT HELD HERE

HUSBAND SEEKS BRIDE'S RETURN

A battle over the right to possess pretty Evalyn Grace Cutnell Czaplinski 18, will reach the courts next Tuesday.

Married but two weeks, the young bride is a captive today—a captive by persuasion in the home of her parents Mr. and Mrs. John Cutnell, of Whitaker, who believe they are keeping her for her own good.

Mike Czaplinski of West Homestead, who married Evalyn Cutnell, July 30, yesterday secured from Judge James H. Gray in Common Pleas Court a writ of heabeas corpus, directed against the parents. The hearing was set for Tuesday.

The young husband maintains that the girl's parents forcibly took her with them August 6—a week after their marriage.

Amid tears, Mrs. Cutnell said:

POLICE RADIO MAN ACCUSED BY GIRL

Held as Victim Tells of 'Arrest' of Friends and Enforced Ride in Auto

A police radio operator, who decided he would try being a full-fledged policeman, was held for court today on a morality charge.

He is Edward Christian, 23, of 6936 Hamilton avenue.

Gertrude Phillips, 18, of 68 Gregory street, told Magistrate Jones in Morals Court this morning that Christian stopped a car in which she, two other girls and three boys were riding in Carson street near the Point Bridge early Wednesday morning, took the boys to the police station and then, with his companion, George Montgomery, 32, of 251 Plymouth street, returned and forced her and one of the other girls to get into his car.

In Eighteenth street, she said, Christian ordered the others from the car and attempted to attack her. Christian admitted making the "arrests" and later releasing the three boys.

Magistrate Jones told him that he was a radio operator and did not have the power to make arrests.

Montgomery was held for court as an accessory of Christian.

2 GUNMEN ROB TAXI DRIVER

Two Negro "fares" robbed M. Marks, a Yellow cab driver, 173 Pius street, of $8.55 at Enoch street and Sweeney court, last night. The pair engaged the cab at Wylie avenue and Fullerton street and pointed revolvers at the driver when their destination was reached.

Women's wearing apparel valued at $40 was stolen yesterday from the apartment of Russel H. Wehrle, Hampton Hall, at 166 North Dithridge street, according to a police report. The entire apartment was ransacked.

JAILED MAN'S BAIL IS SET AT $25,000

Caught in Chicago, Returned To Face Charges In Alleged $300,000 Swindle

James Ritchie, secretary of the Atlantic Drug and Chemical Company, wanted here in connection with the company's alleged fake stock sales, was in the county jail today. He was brought from Chicago, where he was arrested.

His bail was set at $25,000 by District Attorney Andrew T. Park. Other officials of the defunct company, Henry M. Bass, Alex L. Thompson, A. S. Geyer and Ray E. Smith, are still at large according to county detectives. David S. Hammond, another alleged member of the company, who surrendered, is at liberty on $10,000 bail.

The alleged fraudulent stock sales which involved between $300,000 and $400,000, were exposed by Attorney Alex B. Lindsay, special investigator for the Pennsylvania State Department of Securities. The exposure resulted in the filing of informations against members of the company by the District Attorney before Alderman Thomas A. Flanigan.

Search for other members of the company, which maintained offices in the Law and Finance Building, spread throughout the United States and Canada.

Ritchie was traced to Chicago two weeks ago and arrested when his description was forwarded to Chicago police. He gave up his fight against extradition yesterday and County Detective Michael Ford returned with him early today. He was jailed immediately.

The other members of the company are believed to have sailed to South America.

RELIEF PARLEY SLATED HERE

Unemployment relief plans for the winter will be discussed Monday by chairmen of the Allegheny County Emergency Association, which contemplates joining with the Welfare Fund movement in an effort to raise $5,000,000.

The association will share in the fund along with various charitable institutions. Liberal contributions will be sought from corporations and business houses. The fund drive is expected to start November 9.

WILL ROGERS SAYS

BEVERLY HILLS, Cal., Aug. 14.

To the Editor, Sun-Telegraph:

One of the most astonishing things I ever read was in the paper. Facts and figures showed that there has been over $200,000,000 swindled by fake stocks and mines, proposals of marriage and all sorts of schemes, mostly from widows here in Los Angeles. Now there is no harder earned money in the world than that earned by a wife. And then to be simp enough to let some guy talk her out of it. They say it's worse in California than anywhere. It's either the climate, or widows are dumber. About the only way I see to lick these male sharpers is not to leave your wife anything. That will get even with those slickers.

Yours, WILL.

2 Would-Be Fish Traders Lodged in Cell Here

Ralph Cunningham, 21, of 61 Beltzhoover avenue, and William Garrity, 26, of 423 Iberia street, were lodged in Central Police Station after police said, they offered a three-pound mackerel in payment for two glasses of buttermilk and later wanted to exchange the fish for a dozen bananas in a Diamond street fruit stand.

The two were said to have taken the mackerel yesterday from a crateful of fish that had dropped from a truck in Smithfield street and walked into a market where they ordered the buttermilk. When they discovered they had no money they tried to make things square by offering the mackerel.

Turned down, the pair was arrested a short time later while trying to exchange the fish for a bunch of bananas, it was reported. Police said the two had been drinking.

Robber Welcomes Police, Escapes Grid Players

CHICAGO, Aug. 14.—(AP)—A little investigation might have shown Japheth Simeon the folly of selecting 1612 Prairie avenue as a home to rob. He would have known then that of some two dozen roomers 18 were candidates for college football teams.

After he had stumbled against a door from all directions the charging figures came.

Ten minutes later, peeking from beneath a mass of husky bodies, Simeon caught a glimpse of men in blue with shiny stars on their coats. He gasped:

"I'm so glad you're here."

DOGS BITE BOY AND WOMAN

A woman and a boy were bitten by dogs on the North Side last night. Both were treated at Allegheny General Hospital.

Emma Jones, 32, of 835 Sandusky street, was bitten on the right leg at East Ohio and Chestnut street. The owner of the animal was ordered to keep it tied for observation.

A short time later, Joseph Stern, 17, of 2532 Spring Garden avenue, was bitten on the right leg by a stray dog in Alpine avenue. Police were unable to find the animal.

SEEK STRIKER IN MINE ATTACK

Constable Ben W. Smith, of Coverdale, today was seeking a striking miner of Coverdale mine No. 8, Pittsburgh Terminal Coal Corporation, who is alleged to have fired a shot at an automobile containing two mine workers early today, injuring one of the occupants. The automobile, out of control, crashed into a tree but was not damaged.

The attack occurred near Coverdale mine on the Washington-McKeesport highway. Jake Salt, 24, of 2811 Irish avenue, McKeesport, driver of the machine, was injured, suffering a severe cut on his head. His companion, Joseph Jovcevich, of the same address, escaped injury. Both men are employed in the Coverdale mine, and were returning to their home at the time of the attack.

2 HURT IN AUTO CRASH, PAIR VANISH

Occupants Gone, Police Tow Car to Garage; Driver, Wife Hurt in Hitting Pole

Two persons were injured last night when an automobile driven, police said, by George Wilson, 32, of 1465 Mcrwyn avenue, collided with another at East Ohio and McFadden streets. Two passengers in Wilson's car, Raymond Wright, 24 of Glenmawr avenue and Edgar Dugan, 31 of 5330 Liberty avenue, were treated in Allegheny General Hospital.

Police were unable to find the two occupants of the other car. The driver of the second, which was towed to a garage by police, was said to have been hurled through the windshield.

George King, 28, and his wife Lorraine, 22, of 208 Lincoln avenue were slightly injured when King lost control of his automobile in the 1000 block Shady avenue early today and crashed into a pole. They were taken to Pittsburgh Hospital.

SEEK TO VERIFY CLUE TO GIRL

Mrs. Julia Kavchak of 24 Acorn street whose daughter Mary, 17, has been missing from her home since August 1, today was to view the girl's clothing found hanging to a stick along the Monongahela River bank between the Liberty and South Tenth street bridges by River Patrolman Benjamin F. Nowak.

Mrs. Kavchak told Nowak that her daughter failed to return home after accompanying two young men in an automobile to a camp along the Allegheny River.

Nowak told of receiving a post card which in rhyme explained that the clothing had been hung on the stick as a practical joke. It was signed by an acquaintance.

Indian Jailed 4th Time Directing City Traffic

VENTURA, Cal. — (INS) — Tom Guerera, 90-year-old Indian, was jailed for the fourth time here because he insisted on directing the city traffic on a busy highway. Three times previously Guerera was reported to have imbibed too freely of white man's fire water and set forth to guide motorists.

Guerera contented himself by telling his jailmates of his colorful Indian boyhood when he roamed where he pleased in the broad open spaces of the West.

EXPECT 45,000 AT OUTING

Two hundred and sixty-seven committee members and 57 track and field officials will officiate at events of the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company's forty-fifth annual picnic at Kennywood Park tomorrow.

This year's attendance is expected by the general committee to equal the 45,000 record of the past two years. Special transportation and parking facilities have been arranged. Through street cars will run to the park from Turtle Creek Valley communities and from McKeesport.

Children will receive 112,000 amusement and 30,000 refreshment tickets, and 10,500 cups of coffee will be distributed to adults. Athletic events will begin at noon. Men, women and children will compete. A band concert music by a kilty band and three dance orchestras are scheduled. An exhibition by the Hellcats, high divers, a banquet for pensioned employes, a grand drawing and distribution of prizes are additional features.

BRAND'S DOG PET OF CLUB

Fred Brand's life job is teaching people to play golf at the Allegheny Country Club, Sewickley. And he can tell many things, especially the peculiarities of his favorite authoress, Mary Roberts Rinehart.

Talking incessantly, she often halted between strokes to jot down notes, and occasionally halted in the middle of his teaching to go home and write, he says.

But Chico—he's something. A gift of Mrs. Henry R. Rea, the German police dog is the pet of the Allegheny Country Club. He can shake hands, jump over chairs, insists on riding in Fred's car beside him, and if necessary will jump through a window to do it.

Once the Scot pro said, when he and Mrs. Brand took a brief trip and locked Chico in the house, they returned to find a $28 bill for broken windows. Chico had refused to stay in.

Search for Fliers Missing One Week

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 14 — (INS) — A search led by the brother of one of two missing airmen was begun today for William Richard Adams, 21, of Trenton, N. J., a student flier who recently passed his transport test, and Capt. Ivan Alberts, also of Trenton, missing since last Friday.

FIND VALUABLES IN FIRE DEBRIS

More than 100 persons yesterday searched the city dump in the 5000 block, Schenley avenue, for valuables in the debris taken there from the Little Sisters of the Poor Home for the Aged, swept by fire July 24.

Many of the searchers were children. The first to find valuables were Betty De Runk, 9 of 4906 Schenley avenue, who discovered a crucifix, and Richard Besselman, 3, of 1906 Schenley avenue, who uncovered a small ring.

Chocolate Has Considerably More Fat Than Cocoa

Though most of the theories concerning nutritious these days are based on calories, mixed with sugar and milk which endows them with food value

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.

Former Health Commissioner of New York City, now Senator from New York

Chocolate is one of the most delicious of the gifts of foods. It is [illegible] to most children and to most adults.

Chocolate comes from the cacao tree, which grows in the ground. The cacao tree is native to tropical America, but is now found in many parts of the world. The beans are obtained from the pods of the cacao tree. They are roasted, ground and pressed. The cocoa butter is then removed, leaving a fat-free powder.

Sweetened chocolate is made by adding sugar to the product.

Cocoa is a beverage which is made from the cocoa powder. It contains no fat.

PEACH TURNOVER. Beat [illegible] spoon baking powder, ¼ teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon cinnamon, ¼ teaspoon salt, 2 tablespoons butter, chocolate, ½ cup chopped pitted prunes, warm, ½ cup of milk, 1 egg, ½ cup evaporated milk, 1 teaspoon vanilla, 1 cup pastry flour.

Cream the butter and sugar. Add well beaten egg, milk and vanilla. Sift the flour, then measure and sift the five ingredients and stir about half of this into the first mixture. Add chocolate which has been melted over hot water and cooled. Stir in rest of flour. Form into a [illegible] inches in diameter, wrap in waxed paper and chill. Roll thin. Bake in a moderate oven, 350 degrees F. Yield: two dozen cookies.

COLD TROUT WITH LEMON JELLY. Steam the dressed trout [illegible] minutes in water to which salt and lemon juice or vinegar is added. Allow to cool. Place on a large platter. Prepare lemon flavored gelatine according to directions. Remove bones and chop coarsely. Fish with the chopped [illegible] a little mayonnaise. Garnish with [illegible] and sprigs of parsley and cover with a little French dressing.

RASPBERRY COBBLER—Sift together 4 cups flour, 2 teaspoons baking powder and 2 teaspoons salt. Cut in ½ cup shortening and work well. Add 1 cup milk to make a soft dough. Roll to ¼ inch thick and line a square pan with ⅔ of the mixture. Pour in 3 cups berries which have been sweetened to taste. Dot with butter and cover with the remaining dough. Set in a 500 degree oven until slightly brown, then reduce the heat and bake in a 250 degree oven.

CREAM PUFFS. ½ cup of butter, 1 cup boiling water, 4 eggs, 1 cup of flour.

Heat the water and butter in a saucepan until the water boils, then add the flour all at once and stir vigorously. Cook over the fire until the mass is thick and smooth. When it is thick enough it will ball up on the spoon. Remove from fire when it has reached this stage and add the eggs unbeaten one at a time, beating vigorously each time. Drop by spoonful on an oiled baking sheet. Bake in a moderate oven from 25 to 30 minutes. When puffs are cool make an incision in the side and fill with cream filling or whipped cream.

ORANGE CREAM SHERBET—For mechanical refrigerator, makes about 2 quarts. One cup water, ½ cup sugar, 1 teaspoon gelatine, 2 tablespoons cold water, ¼ cup corn syrup, 1 cup orange juice, 1 teaspoon grated orange rind, ½ cup lemon juice, 2 egg yolks, ¼ cup sugar, 1 cup cream. Boil 1 cup water and ½ cup sugar for 5 minutes. Add gelatine which has soaked in 2 tablespoons cold water for 5 minutes. Add corn syrup and cool. Add orange juice, rind and lemon juice. Freeze in tray of mechanical refrigerator until mushy, then beat with a rotary beater. Beat egg yolks with ¼ cup sugar until very light and add to mixture. Fold in cream whipped and return to freezing tray to finish freezing.

CREAM FILLING. ½ cup of sugar, ¼ cup of flour, 2 eggs, 2 cups of milk, ½ teaspoon of salt, 1 teaspoon of vanilla, 1 square of chocolate.

Mix sugar, flour and salt together. Add milk which has been heated. Beat and melted chocolate, cooled and slightly beaten egg and cook for a few minutes in top of double boiler. Cool and flavor.

ICED PLUM SOUP. 2 tablespoons gelatin, ¼ cup cold water, 1½ cups boiling water, 2 cups plum juice, 2 tablespoons lemon juice, ¼ tablespoon salt, sugar. Soak gelatin in cold water for 5 minutes, add boiling water and stir until dissolved. Add fruit juice, salt and sugar to taste. Turn into bouillon cups and chill in the refrigerator.

TOMATO DELIGHT. One cup tomato juice, 1 egg, ½ teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon pepper, ¼ teaspoon sugar, 1 teaspoon lemon juice, ½ teaspoon mustard, ¼ teaspoon horseradish, 1 teaspoon tomato puree.

Separate the egg. Beat the yolk and the tomato juice and the seasonings except the horseradish. [illegible]

A DINING-ROOM TRAGEDY!
TABLES spread with delicious food . . . most of it soft, highly refined, lacking in the "bulk" and roughage your body must have to keep well and strong.
This is the dining room tragedy that occurs daily in millions of homes. No wonder most people suffer from constipation. No wonder headaches, backaches, and dull days are frequent!
Just add one delicious food to your table—and you will help correct all this suffering. Add Kellogg's ALL-BRAN to some form every day.
ALL-BRAN adds the necessary "bulk" or roughage and iron that is so often lacking in our diet today. This bulk is needed to prevent constipation—to sweep the system clean of poisonous wastes—to exercise the intestines and keep them healthy.
ALL-BRAN is delicious as a cereal with milk or cream. Sprinkle over other cereals or use in cooking.
Two tablespoonfuls daily are guaranteed to relieve both temporary and recurring constipation. In severe cases with each meal. At your grocer's—in the red and green package. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.
Kellogg's ALL-BRAN

DATE MUFFINS. One and [illegible] cups pastry flour, 2 teaspoons baking powder, ½ teaspoon salt, 4 tablespoons butter, 1 egg, ½ cup sugar, ½ cup milk, ½ cup dates. Sift flour, measure and sift baking powder and salt and add sugar gradually and cream together thoroughly. Add egg then flour alternately with the milk a small amount at a time. Beat after each addition until smooth. Add dates. Bake in greased muffin tins in hot oven, 400 degrees F., for 25 minutes. Makes 18 muffins.

BRAISED SWEETBREADS WITH VEGETABLES. One pair sweetbreads, cut in six pieces, 1 small onion, sliced, 1 stalk of celery, sliced, 4 slices fat salt pork, cubed, 2 tablespoons butter, 1 teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon pepper, 1 cup chicken stock, 1 tablespoon flour, 1 cup peas cooked, ½ cup mushrooms.

Cook sweetbreads six minutes with onion, celery, pork, 1 tablespoon butter, salt and pepper, stirring almost constantly. Add stock, cover and simmer 35 minutes. Remove sweetbreads, strain stock. Melt remaining butter, add flour and stir until well blended. Add stock gradually while stirring constantly. Add peas and simmer 10 minutes. Into a large casserole well buttered, add a layer of the vegetable mixture, then the sweetbreads and next the mushrooms until the dish is full. Sprinkle the top with grated cheese and cook 15 minutes in a hot oven or until cheese is melted and browned. The cheese may be omitted and buttered crumbs used in its place.

SALMON LOAF—One can salmon, 2 cups milk, 2 tablespoons flour, 2 tablespoons butter, 1 pimento, ½ teaspoon salt, ⅛ teaspoon pepper, ¼ teaspoon paprika, 4 tablespoons grated cheese.

Remove the salmon from the can, flake it and arrange in a buttered loaf pan. Melt butter, add flour and when blended stir in the cold milk. Stir until the mixture boils and is thick. Add salt, pepper, paprika and cheese. Pour over the fish. Sprinkle with pimento strips, then with buttered crumbs and bake in moderate oven until crumbs are brown and fish is hot.

ICE-BOX LEMON PIE. One and one-third cups sweetened condensed milk, ½ cup lemon juice, grated rind one lemon, 2 eggs, 2 tablespoons granulated sugar.

Blend together the condensed milk, the lemon juice, grated rind and the egg yolks. Pour into the baked pie shell. Cover with meringue made by beating egg whites until stiff and adding sugar. Bake in moderate oven (350-475 degrees F.). Spread with cocoanut butter frosting. Yield: 2 layers or 24 cup cakes.

Prudence Penny's Recipes

Send with an egg beater or by shaking in a fruit jar. Chill thoroughly. Whip the egg white until stiff; add the tomato puree, a dash of salt and the horseradish. Continue beating until stiff.

Put 2 tablespoons of the beaten egg white mixture into a cold sauce dish which contains a tablespoon of crushed ice. Pour the tomato juice mixture over this. Top with a spoonful of the beaten white, garnish with a bit of pimento, tomato or a dash of paprika. Serve with salted wafers. This may also be served as a nourishing beverage. This amount makes two servings.

JELLIED ASPARAGUS SOUP — 2 tablespoons gelatin, 4 cups well seasoned chicken or veal stock, 2 tablespoons lemon juice, pared lemond rind, cayenne, $1\frac{1}{2}$ cups cooked asparagus put through sieve, salt and white pepper. Soak gelatine in $\frac{1}{2}$ cup stock for five minutes. Beat remaining stock with lemon juice, rind, cayenne and salt. Add soaked gelatine and when dissolve add egg white slightly beaten. Stir constantly and boil five minutes.

Cool and then strain through double cheesecloth. Return to fire, add the well-seasoned asparagus pulp, stir until well blended then chill in the refrigerator and just before serving beat with a fork and turn the mixture into chilled bouillon cups. Garnish with strips of pimento.

POTATO AND EGG SALAD BOLIVIA — $1\frac{1}{2}$ cups potatoes, cut in cubes, 3 hard cooked eggs, finely chopped, $1\frac{1}{2}$ tablespoons finely chopped pimentos, 2 slices onion, finely chopped, mayonnaise.

Mix the cubes, cooked potatoes, egg, pimentos and onion with the dressing. Add any seasoning, according to taste. Serve on lettuce.

Pare and grate quinces. Dissolve sugar in water, over a fire, add quince and cook 15 to 20 minutes. Turn into sterilized glasses. When cold it should be about the color and consistency of honey.

EGG AND SPINACH CREOLE — 3 cups cooked, chopped spinach, $\frac{1}{4}$ teaspoon mace, 1 teaspoon salt, $\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoon pepper, $\frac{1}{4}$ cup pimento cheese, 1 cup cream, $1\frac{1}{2}$ tablespoons flour, 2 tablespoons butter, 2 ripe tomatoes, 6 eggs, 4 tablespoons buttered crumbs.

Make a white sauce by melting the butter, adding the flour and blending to form a smooth paste. Add cheese and stir constantly until smooth and velvety. Put spinach in a casserole. Secure nicely formed medium-sized ripe tomatoes and slice. Lightly saute the slices in butter and place on top of the spinach in the casserole. Poach 6 eggs, place on the tomatoes and cover all with the cheese sauce. Sprinkle with buttered crumbs and place under a broiler flame for a few minutes to brown.

STUFFED EGGPLANT — One medium eggplant, 1 chopped green pepper, 1 small onion, finely chopped, $\frac{1}{2}$ cup grated cheese, Salt and pepper to season, 1 ripe tomato, cut fine, 1 cup bread crumbs, 2 tablespoons melted butter.

Cut the eggplant into fourths lengthwise. Parboil for 10 to 15 minutes. Scoop out the center, leaving a shell about $\frac{1}{2}$-inch thick. Chop the pulp and combine with the remaining ingredients. Butter a baking dish and arrange in it the pieces of eggplant which have been filled with the dressing. Sprinkle with cheese and bake in moderate oven for 30 minutes.

POTATO AND SHRIMP SALAD — Three cups sliced potatoes, $1\frac{1}{2}$ tablespoons chopped onion, $\frac{3}{4}$ cup chopped cucumber, 1 small can shrimps, 3 hard cooked eggs, $1\frac{1}{8}$ cups cooked salad dressing.

Cut boiled or steamed potatoes into $\frac{1}{2}$-inch dice. Mix lightly with onion, cucumber, shrimp, diced egg and salad dressing. Serves six.

CUCUMBER AND ONION SANDWICHES — Two medium-sized cucumbers, 1 onion, mayonnaise, lettuce.

Pare cucumbers and cut in $\frac{1}{8}$-inch slices. Remove skin from onion and slice thin. Sprinkle lightly with salt. Put cucumber and onion on lettuce leaves between slices of whole wheat bread, spread generously with butter and mayonnaise. Serves six.

MACARONI, TOMATO AND MUSHROOM — One-half pound boiled macaroni, 1 tablespoon butter, 1 small onion, cut fine; 1 cup beef broth, 1 teaspoon flour, 4 tablespoons finely chopped mushrooms, cooked; $\frac{1}{2}$ teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon chopped parsley, grated cheese.

Brown onion in butter, add flour and stir until smooth. Add broth, beat and stir until smooth. Add tomatoes and simmer 20 minutes. Add mushrooms (that have been cooked in butter), salt and mix with the hot boiled macaroni. Place on a hot platter, sprinkle with chopped parsley and grated cheese.

FROZEN APPLE CREAM — Soften $\frac{1}{2}$ tablespoon of gelatine in 2 tablespoons cold water. Dissolve over hot water. Add a tablespoon of cherry juice (from a can of maraschino cherries), a cup of sweetened apple sauce and a tablespoon of lemon juice. Chill until partially set. Whip until fluffy. Carefully fold in a cup of whipping cream which has been stiffly whipped. Add 3 tablespoons of powdered sugar and the maraschino cherries, which have been cut in small pieces. Pour into a mold which has been rinsed in cold water. Chill until firm. Serve with whipped cream.

APRICOT CHARLOTTE — Two cups dried apricots, 3 cups water, $1\frac{1}{4}$ cups sugar, 1 orange, 2 teaspoons gelatine, 2 teaspoons grated orange rind, 2 tablespoons cold water, 1 cup whipping cream, 18 lady-fingers.

Wash the apricots in cold water. Peel orange and cut pulp in thin slices. Combine apricots, sliced orange, water and grated orange rind. Cover and simmer about 30 minutes. Add sugar and simmer 10 minutes, stirring frequently to prevent burning. Soften gelatine in the 2 tablespoons of cold water. Add to hot apricots and stir until dissolved. When cold, fold in stiffly whipped cream. Line the bottom and sides of a loaf pan with lady-fingers. Pour the apricot cream into pan and chill over night. Serve, garnished with whipped cream and halves of cooked sweetened apricots.

PINEAPPLE AND ORANGE BAVARIAN — Soften 2 tablespoons gelatine in $\frac{1}{2}$ cup cold water. Dissolve over hot water. Heat a cup orange juice and a cup crushed pineapple to boiling point. Add the gelatine, a tablespoon lemon juice, $\frac{1}{2}$ cup sugar and a few grains salt. Stir until well blended. Cool until partly set, then whip until fluffy. Carefully fold in stiffly whipped evaporated milk or cream. Chill until firm. The evaporated milk is prepared for whipping by heating over boiling water for 5 minutes and then being thoroughly chilled.

Erie Starts Probe Of Alcohol Death

ERIE, Pa., Aug. 14.—(AP.)—Coroner Dan Hanley has started an investigation into the death of George Drake, 67, who died a short time after he had been brought to the Soldiers' and Sailors' Home by two men. Death was attributed to alcoholism. He left the home August 6.

N. Y. Gas Tax Boost Urged for Road Fund

ITHACA, N. Y., Aug. 14.—Representatives of four southern counties have agreed an increased gasoline tax would best aid the "Get the farmer out of the mud" movement. Highway officials representing the four counties were of the opinion that the increased gas tax would be better than a higher rural real estate levy.

Thieves Get Only $3, Stab Woman Victim

COLUMBIA, Pa., Aug. 14.—(AP.)—Maryland State police were asked by Pennsylvania police to join in the search for two men who held up Mrs. Margaret Golbin, 35, in her refreshment stand near Safe Harbor, took $3 and stabbed the woman when she claimed she had no more money.

Depression

My lips he avidly used to seek
Now he barely pecks at my cheek.

He used to speak volumes with his eyes
Which now look vacant as he wearily sighs.

Now they dwell solely on market depression.

His life he avowed belonged to me.
Now it starts at ten and ends at three.

A caveman and sweetheart—magnificent lover.
Now cries like a babe for stocks to recover.

The bears are my downfall, the bulls my salvation
Oh, bring back the bulls and my lover's elation!

O, Mr. Wilstach!

Suggested for the Best Similes Dictionary: Meredith Janney: Hard to do as to replace an overpush of toothpaste back in the tube. I. Meltzer: Inconspicuous as the bottom button on a shirt. Norman Sullivan: Figured as much in the plans as a goat in a lodge initiation.

Helen Rowland: Foolish as last year's fashion, forgotten as last year's girl. Ted Cook: Tossed aside like yesterday's official denial. N. Y. American: Politicians are like steam radiators, one-fourth heat and three-fourths noise. John Harrower: Merciless as crow's-feet accumulating around the corners of an aging actress' eyes. George Jean Nathan: The show left me as unmoved as the playing of the Abyssinian anthem. O. F. Peck: About as important as a Pullman car name thinker-upper.

I've Met Him

And Izzy Elison describes one of the Broadway False Alarms in this manner: He's the sort of guy who wears button shoes and then tips off the cop to the show.

And They Beat Rugs!

A few evenings ago Sidney Lenz, the bridge authority, was at a friend's home. Two women were about to play. His host's wife and a socialite was entertaining from Texas. The visitor had never been to New York before and wasn't acquainted with the Northern Somebodies.

On the call for the partners, Mr. Lenz drew the unknown Suthinnah. Whereupon the hostess stabbed with relief and said to her sister: "Thank heaven you drew Mr. Lenz and I didn't." He always bawls his partner out.

Oh, said the Southerner, that wasn't bothuh me honey. Ah've been bawled out by experts.

Quiteso, Quiteso

Texas Guinan's favorite proverb: "A successful man has made his one enemy more enemy."

The Squelch Swelegant

Charles Hughes passes along this Dorothy Parker anecdote. It was at a Hollywood party at which a well-known dramatic actress was plastered again.

She started abusing the guests and wound up making personal remarks bawling out servants, throwing food, breaking glasses and insulting the hostess. She finished by staggering out of the place, but not until she thumbed her nose at the dissipated crowd.

"Huh!" to Parker was the only guest who wasn't impressed. "As the crowd of the party staggered to the door, Dorothy merely raised her eyes from her drink and sweetly chirped: "What? Wilstach's mother leaving so soon?"

Pun My Soul!

Scandals' Gal: "You said it. Sheer today and gone tomorrow."

Sotto Voce

M. C.: "Somebody is kidding you, lady."

Comedian: "But I didn't write this. It's my mother-in-law who's doing it. The line read: 'A dry cocktail, etc.'"

Fred Carter: "You simply try to be as readable and as diverting as often as possible."

A Form of Criticism

On the beach the other humiliday Frank Scully and a pal were trying to figure out where their meal was coming from when a gorgeous blonde ankled by in a bathing suit that would have made a nudist blush.

Frank nudged his companion as she passed closely. The pal said: "So she could hear him: 'Some doll. What a chassis!'"

The eyeful turned slowly around, looked at the two fellows as if they were the sand beneath her, and in her best Vassar tone flipped: "I wonder who left those dirty bathing suits on the beach."

TEXAS OIL MEN GET WARNING

AUSTIN, Tex., Aug. 14 (INS): Gov. Ross Sterling's threat to send National Guardsmen into the field today hung over the heads of oil well pirates.

The executive said he would call out the militia to enforce closing of the wells following the example of Gov. William H. Murray, of Oklahoma, in the event the operators disobey the new state conservation act.

The new law is expected to cut production of Texas oil 20 per cent in the fight to raise the price of petroleum.

Chicken Thief Raids Coops In Auto

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14 (INS): The "ultra-modern chicken chief" makes his nocturnal visits to the henhouse in an automobile and in company of a police dog.

House Blown Up In Lyons, Five Die

LYONS, France, Aug. 14 (INS): An explosion of mysterious origin blew up a house in a suburb of this city this morning, causing five deaths. Thirteen persons were injured and five were missing.

The house was occupied by the families of Spanish and Algerian workmen.

Triple Slayer Dies In Texas Chair

HUNTSVILLE, Tex., Aug. 14 (AP): Joe Shield, triple slayer, was electrocuted in the state penitentiary early today. He was convicted of slaying his estranged wife at Brookesmith, May 16, 1930.

Too Many to Feed, Baby Gets New Parents

WINCHESTER, Ky., Aug. 14 (AP): Elsie Louise Shrout, who came into the world to find herself No. 7 in a family whose father barely eks out a living on a farm and whose mother cooks for $3 a week, has been promised new parents. Elsie Louise was born just 13 days ago, and her parents felt they could not stand the additional burden.

Mr. and Mrs. Sewell Woodward, of Lexington, married two years without children of their own, have promised to adopt the little girl.

RAID REVEALS ALARM SYSTEM

Prohibition agents raiding a cafe and house at 6690 Frankstown avenue reported finding an elaborate electric alarm system in the place late yesterday.

When the agents entered Constance Mack, the bartender, fled through the rear into an adjoining building, agents said. The agents followed and reported confiscating whisky and home brew valued at $2,500.

Windows and doors in both buildings were connected with the alarm system. Mack and John Jerris, alleged proprietor, were released on bond.

WHEAT KING
Jumbo-hearth-flavored

That's why this old-time shaped loaf has the fine, rich hearth-flavor prized by those who know good bread.

Because it's an old style loaf, oven heat from the sides, bottom, and top penetrates every part during baking.

This gives Wheat King Jumbo fine, even texture, with every morsel baked to the same uniform goodness. Buy a loaf at your grocer's today and treat your family to bread with the real hearth flavor.

Paul Lukas, Out of Movies Once Because of His Accent, Now Star

By HARRISON CARROLL

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 14.

Once ruled out of the talkies because of his accent, Paul Lukas begins his first Paramount starring picture within a fortnight. It will be "The Beloved Bachelor." Some years ago Thomas Meighan made the same story as "The Prince Chap."

Playing opposite Lukas will be Vivienne Osborne, who has waited for six months to show what she can do in a picture. Miss Osborne created the role of "Aloma of the South Seas" and replaced Lenore Ulric in "The Harem." She is under regular contract to Paramount.

Vivienne Osborne

As you may recall, "The Beloved Bachelor" relates the story of a young man who inherits a baby.

Charles Ruggles will handle the comedy, and the picture will be directed by Lloyd Corrigan.

DIX MAKES HIT

War enthusiasms are too soon forgotten. This week in Los Angeles three holders of the Congressional medal of honor were out of work. Hearing of it, Richard Dix got them jobs on his new picture, "Secret Service," and will carry them through to the end of the production. The three heroes are Louis Van Ersel, cited at Chateau-Thiery; Robert von Schlick, cited during the Boxer rebellion in China, and David E. Hayden, cited at Bealleau Wood.

LATEST GOSSIP

Word comes from the East that Gary Cooper and Tallulah Bankhead seem right friendly with each other. Looks like the split between tall Gary and his spitfire is permanent. . . . Even the stars craned their necks when Marlene Dietrich, her husband, Rudolph Seiber, her baby daughter, Maria, and Josef von Sternberg dropped into the Embassy Club for luncheon. . . . William Farnum is dropping out of character long enough to sell one of the studios the film rights to a story he owns. . . . Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., is quite the prankster. When a newcomer shows up at the studio lunch room, he goes over to his table, picks up a knife and says:

Marlene Dietrich

"Do you know what we call this in Hollywood?" When the newcomer shakes his head, Doug replaces the article and informs him confidentially: "It's still a knife."

PEGGY KEEPS ON

When a new player really clicks in Hollywood, parts come in a rush. Peggy Shannon made good, and now is beginning her fourth picture in three months. Her part will be the heroine of "Touchdown," the football story in which Richard Arlen has a featured role. It was with Arlen that the red-headed actress made her first hit as the telephone operator in "The Secret Call."

Plays, Players and By-Play

By WILLIAM J. LEWIS

Katharine Cornell has leased the Belasco Theater, New York, from September 21, next, for a term of years, in association with her husband, Guthrie McClintic. This lease represents her second step as actor-manager, her first being the production of "The Barretts of Wimpole Street." She will continue to present that play in the Empire Theater, but her subsequent productions will be in the Belasco. The Belasco, under the new management, will open early in October when Mr. McClintic will present Francine Larrimore in "Brief Moment," by Samuel N. Behrman.

Klaus Explains.
Second McTiernan Bout.
Thorough Sportsman.
Mid Atlantic League.
To Be Split Up.
For 1932 Season.

FORMER ATHLETE WOULD BE JUDGE

FRANK KLAUS, former middleweight champion of the world, has been asked many times why he consented to let his welterweight boxer, Jimmy Belmont, of Braddock, box Buck McTiernan, of Sassvale, in his first bout after defeating the latter in a knockout in their recent melee. Friends of both think Klaus should have cashed in on the victory before sending Jimmy against McTiernan again, at the Meyers Bowl, near Monday night and running the risk of losing and being right back where he started when he entered the ring the underdog in his first meeting as a professional with his old rival.

Frank Klaus

WHEN WE SIGNED to box McTiernan the first time, Buck was the rock of the walk-in and I had to make a lot of concessions to get the match. One of these was to let McTiernan take the big end of the purse and the other was that we had to agree to the contract to box him again in case I beat Belmont, which I probably could have put over on the average run of mans other managers and boxers would not have permitted matters but I am a man of my word and am sure of some return in future.

Entirely aside from any consideration the fact that the mills in the district have not been working with any degree of regularity recently and the fact that we are not as flush financially as they once were are making this match, I suppose we can pass up McTiernan and take on another formidable opponent. The match lacks weight but even at that it is a natural between two local rivals and the risk will not be as great as in a real grudge.

BOTH BELMONT AND myself have confidence in his ability to repeat. If he fails we will be wrong but we will have done the sporting thing anyway.

THESE ARE PARLOUS times indeed for the Middle Atlantic Baseball League, top-heavy as it is with 12 clubs calling for a lopsided schedule and long jumps, with slim gates to contend against, but the circuit is making a game struggle and will finish the season, in spite of all obstacles, largely due to the energetic prosecution of his duties by Elmer Davis, at Windber, the president.

However, before a new season swings around, there will be an entirely new deal. The smaller towns will be dropped from the circuit, and as likely as not, the territory will be split up into two leagues, each compact and furnishing the best possible rivalry.

Elmer Davis

ALONG THESE LINES a suggestion has been made that one each be formed consisting, possibly, of West Virginia teams with the other one a Pennsylvania-Ohio circuit. In the West Virginia loop the possible entrants would be Wheeling, Clarksburg and Fairmont in the northern part, Huntington in the central part and Beckley and Charleston in the southern section. The Pennsylvania-Ohio League would consist of Johnstown, Altoona and Erie in Pennsylvania and Youngstown, Canton and Akron in Ohio. A fifth club to develop in the latter place from the farm system affiliation to be made to revive the Central League, which in the days before Akron and Dayton.

The Middle Atlantic and Appalachian moves in the Middle Atlantic League, with Charleston, Johnstown has presented a problem in the working of the split-half plan. A playoff is scheduled at the end of the campaign between Cumberland, the first half winner, and the ultimate winner of the second half. There will be no playoff, however, between the first champion and the Blue Ridge League champion this year, the reason that the Blue Ridge League pennant winner is not in the league that the Middle Atlantic champion is in. A good proposition exists, though, for an arrangement between the champions of the proposed West Virginia and Pennsylvania-Ohio leagues at the end of the season.

AMONG THE CANDIDATES for judges of the county courts at the Republican primaries on September 15 will be a former well-known local athlete, Norman L. Skiff. Woodard, one of three famous brothers in the sports realm some years back.

SKIP WAS A THREE LETTER man at Georgetown University in football, baseball and track from 1908 to 1912 inclusive, and was an all Southern tackle for the Washington eleven. In 1912 he was a member of the American Olympic Committee, and in 1914 he was football coach at Fordham University in New York when his brother, Bud, was captain of the team there, and Frankie Frisch, later a star second baseman with the New York Giants and now captain of the St. Louis Cardinals, headed for their second successive National League pennant and fourth in six years, was a sweet halfback for Fordham.

The largest crowd in the history of the Hickey Park arena, Millvale, which paid close to $4,000 at the box office last night, saw Mose Butch, chunky young southpaw bantamweight of Oakland, upset the dope bucket as he hammered out a clean-cut victory over Jackie Rodgers, veteran local Negro puncher, in the 10-round main bout.

Mose Butch

Butch got off to a whale of a lead in the first four rounds, in which Rodgers did virtually no fighting, while Mose was industriously chopping away with his left. Then Rodgers began to open up a bit and Mose was forced to do considerable holding and a few times break ground and run as Jackie went to work on his body at close quarters to gradually make up lost ground. A hot rally that carried Rodgers before him and swept the tenth and final round clinched the issue for Butch, to the great delight of a large delegation of rooters, who almost mobbed him in his corner and dressing room afterward.

JACKIE CONCEDES DEFEAT

There were no knockdowns in the battle and neither man ever was in serious trouble. Butch injured his right hand in the third round and bled from the nose while Rodgers' left eye was puffed over most of the route. The decision was unanimous for Mose even down to Rodgers' opinion of the battle, Jackie who had entered the ring a well backed favorite to win on his greater experience and his vaunted punching power, shook hands with Butch in the dressing room afterward and said the better man had won. He added that Butch is an underrated fighter and should go far. Mose's southpaw stance bothered him, he said. Butch's fine blocking in the clinches also robbed Rodgers of his usual effectiveness to the end that Jackie did not look like his usual fighting self at any stage. The referee had to warn him to fight near the end of the opening round.

Butch weighed 120¼ pounds and Rodgers 121 at 3 p. m.

Jack Tracey of the North Side, 160, won the referee's decision over Jimmy Moore of the Hill, 158½, in the eight-round semi-final a hard-punching battle between the two Negro middleweights. The judges split with Jack Sirko voting for Tracey and Freddie Lux for Moore. Al Graeber was the referee.

REILLY, KOSEL WIN

George O'Hara of the North Side, 133½, was no match for Jimmy Reilly of McKeesport, 132½, in the second bout and Referee Red Robinson called a halt after 51 seconds of the fourth round.

Joe Folino of Ambridge, 122½, was beating Andy Kosel of Braddock, 118½, in the opening bout until Kosel opened a nasty cut under Joe's left eye late in the third round and Dr. M. R. Goldman, the commission physician, refused to permit Folino to come up for the next round.

Ted Yarmo and Tiger Joe Barsall were announced as the main bouters for next week. Harry Klaas did the announcing and Steve Riegel and A. C. Couch were the timers. HARRY KECK

WOMEN GOLF STARS CLASH

Two women's events are on tap in district ruffdom today. A big invitation fourtney is under way at the Edgewood Country Club with a fine entry while the first inter-club match between Highland and Shannopin for the Thomas Thomas Cup is to be staged at Highland. Eighteen holes are to be played today, another 18 at Shannopin in a couple of weeks.

Thomas Thomas, a Shannopin member, will celebrate the event by being married to Miss Harriett Cole of the Stanton Heights Golf Club, Monday.

Yesterday women golfers flocked to the South Hills Country Club for a one-day invitation tourney. Mrs. A. Spencer, of Nemacolin, topped the field in the first flight with a score of 92-9—83. In the second flight Mrs. Atwood of Shannopin led with 110-32—78.

the stroke back again and went five down when St. Clair holed out in 5.

Semans made a desperate last attempt to save the day on the thirteenth and he succeeded in regaining a hole by getting down in par 4. St. Clair being one stroke higher, but the Williams College star ruined every chance Semans had of winning the contest by ending it on the fourteenth with a one-more-than-par 4 to Semans' 5. Larry found a bunker from the tee. Their cards:

Parks	4	4	5	4	5	4	3	4	5—38
St. Clair	4	4	5	4	5	4	3	4	5—38
Semans	4	4	5	4	5	4	3	4	5—38

PARKS ENTERS FINAL

Although young Royston started like a house afire, and showed Parks real sub-par golf for five holes to put him 2 down when the Pitt captain did get going he literally burnt a pathway around the remaining holes. Royston had copped the first with a par 4 and the fourth with a par 3 after the duo had halved the second in par 4's and the third in birdie 4's to become 2 up. They halved the fifth in birdie 4's and then Sam started on the upward trek that put him in the final.

He had three 3's in a row and a par 4 to go 2 up on his clubmate. Parks' first try was a par his second and third on seven and eight were birdies. The best Royston would do under the fir was three more than par.

Parks had gone out scoring the most brilliant golf of the tourney, he had a 34, two under par figures, and on two of the greens he had three-putted. Royston's medal out was 37, one over par.

The homeward trek was a walkaway for Parks. They halved the tenth in 5's, one more than par. Joe won the eleventh in par 4. Sam needing 5 and then the killer instinct crept into the clubs of Parks and he won three holes in a row with figures of 4-3-3, two under par, and they halved the fifteenth in birdie 4's to end matters. Royston found trouble and picked up on the fourteenth. It was one of the finest matches of the tourney, clubs cards:

Parks	4	3	4	3	4	3	4	4	5—34
Royston	4	3	4	3	4	3	4	4	5—34

fourbaggers with one on in the eighth and at the finish the slap almost cut as the margin of victory. Johnny Vergez also hit a homer in this game.

Fitzsch was pulled against the veteran Clarence Mitchell. Larry worked six rueless rounds after the second inning, but the damage was done in the first stanza. Five of McGraw's men connected for hits in the inning. Ott's homer being the high spot of the cannonade. The Giants scored another in the second but Fitzsch stilled their bats for the remainder of the fight.

Weetamoe Captures Herreshoff Trophy

NEWPORT, R. I., Aug. 14.—(AP.)—Weetamoe, sailed by Harold S. Vanderbilt, yesterday defeated nine other sailing yachts to win the Nathanael Greene Herreshoff Gold Cup. The trophy, offered in honor of the famous yacht designer whose name it bears, becomes the permanent possession of Frederick H. Prince of Boston, owner of Weetamoe.

Resolute, successful defender of the America's Cup in 1920, gave Weetamoe the closest competition.

MARYLAND NET PLAY REACHES TITLE ROUND

By PAUL G. SULLIVAN
Staff Correspondent

MOUNTAIN LAKE PARK, Md., Aug. 14.—Dr. Dave O'Loughlin, ace of the P. A. A., will battle Randolph Shields, Washington-Lee University star, in the men's single final of the twelfth annual Western Maryland net championships here at 2 o'clock tomorrow. O'Loughlin, forced to the trophy bracket yesterday by unsportsmanlike tactics of Bill Ballard, Welsh Duke University freshman, 2-6, 6-3, 2-6, 8-6, 6-0.

In the women's singles final Rose Straub, of Johnstown, encounters Frances Grimes, 16-year-old Morgantown lass and a dark horse, if ever there was one. This morning Miss Straub spoils a surprise by defeating Miriam Sullivan of the P. A. A., Western Pennsylvania champion, 6-1, 6-4, in the semi-finals.

Billy O'Loughlin and his Wilson Teammate, Wally Arentzen, attacked the men's doubles semi-finals after brush 6-1, 3-6, 6-2 skirmish with Al McCabe, Coraopolis, and Jenkins Randolph, Davis-Elkins athletic head, and a 6-3, 6-2 decision over the combine of Ferry and Delaney.

Dave O'Loughlin and his Cumberland partner, Ruth Lynn, advanced easily through the initial frame of mixed doubles as did Miss Sullivan and Shields and Miss Straub and Jack Lauler. Miss Straub and Mildred Miller carried Johnstown colors into the women's doubles semi-finals through accounts for Evelyn Claybrook and Marcella De Souza, Cumberland-Washington duo, 6-3, 6-1.

Says Nick Altrock

Baseball's Comedian

CHICAGO, Aug. 14.—Your Uncle Nick tries to pry an honest living out of being comic, but once in a while old Comic Mack gives him a run for his dough. Like when Connie said he might break up the A's at the end of this season.

Nick Altrock

I can see him now, trading Grove and Earnshaw for Amos and Andy, giving Simmons to the Salvation Army, shipping Foxx to the Smithsonian Institute to be mounted and stuffed and exchanging Cochrane for a runabout and two spare tires. That makes the present Western trip of the A's a farewell tour like Harry Lauder's and George M. Cohan's and I guess it means about as much.

Cubs and White Sox Book Charity Game

CHICAGO, Aug. 14.—(AP.)—The Cubs and White Sox will play a special exhibition September 9, donating the proceeds of the game to Gov. Louis Emmerson's Illinois Charity Fund.

A coin will be flipped in the office of Baseball Commissioner Kenesaw M. Landis to decide in which park the baseball game will be played.

September 9 is an open date for both clubs and both will be in the city at that time.

TRACK RECORD BROKEN AT FORD CITY

FORD CITY, Pa., Aug. 14.—The second day of the Armstrong County Fair here yesterday brought out one of the largest crowds in the history of the fair, with a fine program of harness racing.

In the first heat of the 2:07 pace, Hank Lassen, driven by C. P. Daschkoff, owned and trained by George Hunter, Leechburg, broke the track record of 2:07¾, set in 2:08¾. In the second heat of the 2:20 trot, Lassen, after finishing up back with the field, came on, pulling Sleepy Hollow, Jr., to victory. The horses were not timed, as the rules were not complied with. FAIRMONT WINS TWO SHUTOUTS

Shutouts and a thrilling 6-5 defeat for Former Detroiter of Cumberland featured yesterday's batting in the Middle Atlantic League.

Five blanks were settled up during the day. Fairmont twice shutout Youngstown, 4-0 and 2-0. Beaver Falls and Charleston defeated each other by close scores and Wheeling downed Clarksburg in the second game of a dual, 3-0 after losing the first 4-3.

Dennmore fanned 17 Scottdale batters at Cumberland, but the Colts lost 8 to 2 as Winford limited them to five hits. Johnstown nosed out Charleroi, 6-5 and Huntington stopped Beckley 9-7.

The leadership of the Commercial and Industrial League will be at stake this evening as Reliance hooks up with Riecks at Magee field.

Riecks can gain the second half title this evening by handing Reliance its second defeat. Last Tuesday, the Rieck nine turned the trick that they have been trying for two years, that was to beat Reliance and behind the steady pitching of Eddie Imhoff, Bill Stuhlfire's nine broke a record that has stood for nearly three seasons.

The last game Reliance lost in the C. & I. loop was in 1929, and since that time George Miller and the Reliance nine have won 37 straight games. This evening Riecks are out to show that Tuesday's victory over their old rivals was no flash in the pan. It is quite possible that Bill Gormley will go back against the Rieck nine and Eddie Imhoff will be on the mound for the Riecks.

CITY NINES CLASH

Two games will be played in the City League this evening, but the leadership is not involved. The J. J. Thomas nine of Binomfield will invade Homewood Playgrounds, while Dormont makes the trip to Wilson Field to meet Johnny Dunskas' North Side Bucks. While the Bucks will be fighting to win, it is hard to see Dormont dropping any points in the percentage column. Pressed by the Book nine the leaders will play out their string.

Two games are carded in the West Penn loop. St. Joachims puts on a local derby when the Soho club travels to the Union High School stadium to meet Turtle Creek Community. At Linwood, the fans will see a battle when Eddie Walsh takes the Swissvale nine to Hartman Park.

CUBS MEET SAINTS

Two games in the Steel City find Oliver Cubs clashing with St. Elizabeth at Leslie Park, and the O'Malleys traveling to Frick Park to hook up with the Penn club.

Tomorrow the Twenty-fifth Ward Republican club will meet the North Side Civics at West View Park. This game has been arranged as a benefit for the Little Sisters of the Poor home. The game has been called for 6 p. m. and a banner crowd should be on hand.

'Big Men' Need Eyes Opened to Realities

—By B. C. FORBES—

REVOLUTIONS ARE directed against rulers. Past revolutions usually have been against regal rulers against emperors, czars, kings, sometimes against military domination.

Who have now become the real rulers in the more progressive nations of the world?

Financial and business leaders. What, therefore, of future possible revolutions?

B. C. Forbes

PAST REVOLUTIONS have commonly been political.

Economic revolutions have become the modern danger.

I DISCOVERED during my recent stay in Europe that the air was full of rumors and fears of an economic rebellion, an economic cataclysm in Germany.

The idea was widespread that, unless powerful foreign nations sprang to her rescue, Germany would plunge into financial and economic anarchy. Revolution, repudiation, Bolshevism were dreaded.

BRITAIN HAS really been suffering from a bloodless economic revolution, an evolution kept within bounds and therefore not universally recognized as a revolution. Do you imagine for a moment that the financial and industrial and commercial leaders of Britain favor the dole? The dole was started to avert open, flagrant, riotous revolution. Labor, not capital, forced its will upon the government.

INSTEAD OF stopping to consider conditions in other foreign countries, let us face frankly the situation at home.

The situation at this moment carries a serious warning to those who have arrogated to themselves rulership in this country, our towering financiers, our billion-dollar banks, our corporate octopuses.

OUR SO-CALLED "big men" looked quite big and acted on a tremendously big scale while the economic weather was fair and sunny. Their daring, their courage, their initiative, their energy, their enterprise knew no bounds.

BUT WHAT a fall!

THIS STATEMENT can be made in the most sober truthfulness.

Never before were the real rulers of this land the controllers of billion-dollar and other gigantic financial and business enterprises, held in such low esteem by the vast majority of American citizens.

THIS TRUTH needs to be said. My impression, even conviction, is that not one in 10 of our mightiest men of affairs has the slightest conception of how he and his kind are regarded by the masses.

THE WRITER has been feebly but earnestly warning American industry for years that it was its elementary duty to get together and co-operate in formulating plans to take care of its own—its workers—when the time should inevitably come when there would be far-flung need for such care.

But though many individual companies instituted praiseworthy plans for the well-being of their own workers, nothing whatsoever was done on a nation-wide, co-operative scale.

PRESUMABLY THIS nation will escape economic revolution this time.

But the urgent, the dire, the imperative need of the hour and need of tomorrow is for the emergence of business statesmen equalling in wisdom and foresight the daring and enterprise exercised by our so-called "big men" when the sun of prosperity was shining.

STOCK MARKET MAKES WIDE ADVANCE

Numerous Gains of 1 to 5 Points Appear as Bulls Herald Trade Upswing

NEW YORK, Aug. 14.—(AP.)—Bull forces organized in today's stock market to celebrate the approach of the autumn stimulus to general business.

Brokerage circles buzzed with rumors of pool activity in nearly a score of popular issues, and there were numerous advances of 1 to 5 points or more. The rails were soggy for a time in the morning, but soon joined the advance. The bond market was still somewhat irregular, but manifested an improved tone.

Advances of a point or two were fairly general, while gains of 3 to 5 appeared in such issues as American Can, Allied Chemical, J. I. Case, Westinghouse Electric, Eastman, First National Stores, New Haven and Santa Fe. Issues up 2 points incuded United States Steel, American Telephone Bethlehem, New York Central and Johns Manville. Trading quieted down during the early afternoon.

Professional traders were encouraged to organize bullish efforts by the extremely sold out appearance of the market recently, and the failure of declines to bring out any important volume of trading. The weekly brokerage loan report showed a further deflation of loans of $17,000,000 to another new low for the past several years.

Tangible evidence of the autumn upturn in general business activity has been somewhat tardy, but there have been enough encouraging signs to lead to the belief in speculative circles that the seasonal improvement will be of fair proportions.

The weekly mercantile reviews spoke of some improvement in wholesaling and clothing manufacturing, but Bradstreet's, in summarizing the situation, said: "In general dullness is still prevalent, and little increased activity is noticeable." Bradstreet's report of new building permits taken out in 215 cities during July showed a gain of 13 per cent over June.

The weekly Federal Reserve condition statement showed a gain in acceptances held of roughly $70,000,000 for the entire system. In addition to the increase in acceptances, the system added $48,000,000 to its holdings of government securities.

SALARIES CUT BY KOPPERS

The Koppers Company and its subsidiary organizations have announced that salaries of all full time employes will be reduced 10 per cent beginning August 15, an official of the company said last night.

The reduction does not apply to wages of workers paid on an hourly or daily basis.

Canadian Wheat Carryover Large

OTTAWA, Ontario, Aug. 14.—(AP.)—The Dominion Bureau of Statistics announced that Canada's total carryover of wheat at the end of the crop year, July 31, including Canadian wheat stored in United States ports or afloat to these ports, was 140,179,945 bushels. Of this total, 133,381,633 bushels was stored in Canada.

South Penn Reports Loss for Half Year

South Penn Oil Company reports for the six months ended June 30, 1931, net loss of $9,058 after expenses, taxes, depreciation and depletion but before deducting inventory losses. The loss from market fluctuations was $1,124,531, which made total loss of $1,133,589.

July Newsprint Production Lower

NEW YORK, Aug. 14.—Production of newsprint in the United States and Canada in July was 282,279 tons or 59.9 per cent of rated capacity against 293,057 tons or 62.6 per cent of capacity in June and 319,818 tons or 71.8 per cent of capacity in July, 1930.

Will Make Rubber Street Markers

AKRON, O., Aug. 14.—General Tire and Rubber Company has acquired patent rights for manufacture and national distribution of rubber street markers. Production of the new product is under way.

Record Shipments For Libby-McNeil

CHICAGO, Aug. 14.—Libby, McNeil & Libby shipped more cases of canned foods in the first seven months of this year than in the corresponding period of any previous year, Edward G. McDougall, president, stated.

Chicago Bank Rate Remains Unchanged

WITS OF BUYER SHARPENED BY DEPRESSION

By MERRYLE S. RUKEYSER
United News Staff

NEW YORK, Aug. 14.—Depression has sharpened the wits of the average consumer, and merchants say that not in years has the average buyer shown as much keen discrimination.

Perhaps there is a long term gain [illegible] of judgment of consumers. Temporarily [illegible] the equation and [illegible] commercial [illegible] have certainly [illegible] ample opportunity [illegible] their [illegible] and their [illegible] profits [illegible] dated on the [illegible] desire of buyers [illegible] opportunity [illegible] the leaders which offer the best values.

Mr. Rukeyser

GET MONEY'S WORTH

Commenting on the newer fashions in consumer taste one of the nation's principal advertising and merchandising agencies in a bulletin points out:

"From now on people are going to get their money's worth. They are going to spend wisely. That means that they are going to buy quality, not trash. Even now one occasionally sees on the street a well-dressed woman wearing shoes of substantial leather with honest soles, instead of dancing slippers. It is almost impossible any more to find celluloid or even wooden tees while you are waiting to drive.

"Some manufacturers are assuming that because times are hard, it is necessary to cheapen the product. Speaking very generally, we believe that assumption to be wrong. It is the easy buyer who is deceived by the cheap veneer. A wise buyer looks beneath the surface and demands honest worth."

CHANGES NEEDED

Railroad prosperity has long been menaced by the lack of a progressive spirit on the part of routine managers, who are in many instances content to run trains in the same manner as 20 years ago. In order to compete effectively with the private automobile, passenger trains must offer new inducements. The innovating Daniel Willard recently pioneered in installing the first fully air-conditioned train, and the public responded so enthusiastically that his road has added another air-conditioned train to the service.

Though declining corporate earnings is also the rule, 140 trend-bucking corporations have reported larger earnings for the first half of the year than for the corresponding period last year. However 413 corporations have reported lower profits.

Texas Oil Law Expected to Stabilize Industry

By GEORGE H. SNYDER

THE ACTION OF Gov. Ross Sterling, of Texas, in signing the proration bill is being hailed by oil men as a major step in correcting the troubles of the petroleum industry.

The measure gives the Texas Railroad Commission adequate powers to control output and puts teeth in the law to force producers to obey orders. The commission is authorized to restrict the output of individual wells or pools to prevent waste. It must consider each pool as a separate entity and cannot issue general proration orders covering the entire state.

The teeth in the bill are in the form of provisions that charters and drilling permits can be revoked as a penalty for the violation of the law or the commission's orders. Receivership can be instituted in cases where the law or an order of the commission has been disregarded after it has been upheld by a decision of a court of last resort.

Ruling on Injunction

PRODUCERS SEEKING INJUNCTIONS against rulings of the commission may be required to post indemnity bonds to protect surrounding operators against loss during litigation. The liability would be incurred where an injunction is dismissed and an order of the commission is upheld.

In the past it was possible for an operator to secure an injunction against an order of the commission permitting him to disregard proration orders until the case was finally settled. The ruling will give protection to neighboring operators against draining away oil from their wells.

It was through the use of injunctions that the Railroad Commission was made powerless to restrict the steadily increasing flow of oil from the new field in East Texas, which appears to be the largest producing area ever discovered.

To Help Prices

THE NEW TEXAS LAW will bring the last of the unbridled oil fields under control and will mark the establishment of full proration of output in all the important oil producing states.

It will not mean an immediate correction of oil prices, but it will prevent surplus stocks of petroleum from becoming a heavier burden on the industry. It will open the way for the oil trade to start an orderly reduction of its inventories. Within the course of time it should permit the restoration of more satisfactory prices for crude oil.

It still does not prevent the constant danger of a new oil pool being discovered which would plunge the industry into a new era of chaos.

Aid to Oklahoma

UNTIL THE PASSAGE of the new Texas law, the closing of oil wells in Oklahoma appeared to be a move of doubtful advantage. The unchecked flow of oil from Texas threatened to absorb a large part of Oklahoma's market. With output in Texas under control, the efforts of "Alfalfa Bill" Murray's National Guard may eventually result in establishing higher prices for oil.

Whether the goal of $1 a barrel may be attained in any short space of time is uncertain, but substantially higher prices may logically be expected, particularly if the shortage of gasoline in territories served by midcontinent refiners becomes more acute.

U. S. MAY MAKE HUNGARY LOAN

PARIS, Aug. 14.—France will participate to the extent of 12,500,000 in the 15,000,000 foreign credit granted to Hungary. Italy will furnish 1,500,000, while the remainder will be divided between Switzerland and Holland. It is understood that in addition to the 15,000,000 Budapest banks will subscribe to 1,250,000, and plans are being made for an ultimate additional credit from the United States of 11,000,000 or 12,000,000.

Hungarian banks are likely to be reopened shortly and will be aided by the new Rediscount Bank with capital of 50,000,000 pengoes, which was subscribed by the Hungarian treasury, banks and large industrial interests.

Building Permit Figures Show Gain

NEW YORK, Aug. 14.—During July building permit figures departed from the recent trend and turned upward, Bradstreet's reports. The July total for 215 cities amounted to $101,553,346, an increase of 13.3 per cent above the June total and considerably better than the usual seasonal showing. The report says that in the 20 years from 1911 to 1930 there have been only six years in which July permits were larger than June.

Galena-Valvoline Merger Planned

FRANKLIN, Pa., Aug. 14.—Merger of the Galena Oil Corporation operating under a Delaware charter, and the Valvoline Oil Company, with offices in Cincinnati, O., is expected to take place following a stockholders' meeting here September 4. If stockholders of Galena approve the plan of merger as outlined by President M. J. A. Bertin, they will receive one share of Valvoline stock for each 34.69 shares of Galena common stock held.

Cotton Price Drop May Hit Textiles

NEW YORK, Aug. 14.—The sharp drop in the price of raw cotton this week was held likely to have an ultimate reflection in allied textile fibres, chiefly silk and rayon, according to trade reports. Should the low prices prevailing on cotton goods attract a large volume of consumer purchasing a good part of this would be at the expense of the other two fibres which would require price readjustment to overcome the handicap, it was argued.

Rail Employment Figures Down 15%

WASHINGTON, Aug. 14.—Class 1 steam railways at the middle of June had 1,317,407 employes, a decrease of 15.7 per cent under June, 1930, and 24.1 per cent under June, 1929, the Interstate Commerce Commission announces.

Bottom Reached In Slump, Says C. P. R. Head

HALIFAX, Aug. 14.—President E. W. Beatty, of the Canadian Pacific Railway, today expressed belief that the lowest level in the present depression has been reached, although he found no tangible evidences as yet of a return to normal conditions.

Wall Street Discussing Scaling Down Stock Capitalization

Perhaps speculative Wall street found some food for thought in the admonition of the Farm Board to cotton growers urging a voluntary cut in the growing crop. But whatever the reason, there was a sudden disposition to discuss the advisability of a scaling down of common stock capitalization by some companies, which through stock dividends, splitups, etc., vastly increased that part of their capital structure in the last two years of the inflation terminated in 1929. Chances are the rumor of such a plan being contemplated by the Radio Corporation started the discussion, but it was pointed out that earnings of a great many corporations if applied to capitalization on the basis of stock outstanding in 1927 or 1928 would make a fairly satisfactory showing.

Gossip in usually well informed quarters had it that a group of powerful operators had banded together to see what could be done with the constructive side of the market. Adherents to this plan of campaign are reputedly made up chiefly of prominent figures identified with operations for the rise which proved ill-timed in the spring of 1930 and again in the early fall of last year. Their plan, so the tale goes, is to concentrate such activities in a scattering of popular low-priced issues which give evidence of having been quite thoroughly liquidated. Such stocks as Radio, Montgomery Ward, Johns-Manville, Worthington Pump, International Telephone, Sears-Roebuck and Woolworth were reputedly among the issues which may reflect their activities.

New York authorities on cotton viewed the Farm Board's proposal to destroy one-quarter to one-third of the growing crop in much the same manner as most southern authorities. "The worst kind of bunk," said one adding that "nobody in the trade regarded it seriously, but rather looked upon it as not alone impracticable, but entirely uneconomic as well." How about the banks who have loaned money on that cotton," another was moved to ask. A more practical idea it was agreed would be for the Farm Board to destroy its own holdings, estimated to be in excess of 3,000,000 bales. Removal of this actual cotton from over the market might possibly be helpful it was contended, but the board's proposal is out of the question.

The point is being made that in every depression in the past the industries were able to effect operating efficiency to a great degree and eventually, when the turn came, this resulted in improved earnings. The more drastic the depression, the greater the steps for increased efficiency. The current let-down in business has been no exception in this connection. Many leaders of industry assert that savings have been effected which were not believed possible a year ago.

Hearings on the application for increased freight rates for the railroads before the Interstate Commerce Commission disclosed the fact that life insurance companies and savings banks hold more than $3,400,000,000 of railroad investments. Many believe this condition and the fact that the future of railroad bonds as investments is at stake may have considerable influence on the commission to grant some relief to the carriers.

Interests who have been close to Reynolds Tobacco in the past express the view that the company is likely to establish another new high record of earnings in the current year. There has been moderate scale buying of the stock by important interests at times during recent recessions.

Mahoning Valley Mill Operations Higher

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Aug. 14.—Mahoning Valley Steel Company will resume operations next week at its Niles sheet plant on a 75 per cent basis following one week of idleness.

A bulge in demand for steel sheets accounts for the increase in activity at Niles which will bring the number of active mills there to 14 out of 54 available, compared to eight at present.

Grain Corporation Acquires Elevators

CHICAGO, Aug. 14.—Farmers National Grain Corporation has purchased common stock of Oklahoma Wheat Pool Elevator Corporation and Oklahoma Wheat Pool Terminal Corporation, both subsidiaries of Oklahoma Wheat Growers' Association. The corporations acquired operate 192 country elevators and a terminal elevator of 1,050,000 bushels' capacity at Enid.

NEW YORK CURB MARKET

DAILY SHORT STORY

A Great Institution

Architect Displeased With Mother-in-Law Joke

The Crescent Cinema Cathedral owners were going to change the place over from the "silents" to the "talkies."

Richbaum, the manager, wanted to do things right, so he sent for Curtis, the architect, to come over and see about the acoustics. Curtis had added James Ditson to his staff, because Ditson specialized in acoustics.

They met over on the afternoon when Richbaum had five assistant vaudeville acts" in addition to the picture.

Joe Curtis and Jim Ditson, who has become very friendly during the few months Jim had been in the Curtis firm, went to the all-star act more to test the acoustic properties of the auditorium.

"Well," said Curtis to the "feeder" of the "Lawrence & Co" act, "why did you want to see me when the manager told me that it would probably be a good thing over the first step pull?"

"Because, as we'd rather be Sweeney if it was for my mother-in-law."

There was quite a laugh throughout the house. Even Curtis chuckled a little as he visualized the vaudeville act falling apart but Jim Ditson growled.

"It's time they retired those fool mother-in-law gags. They aren't funny," he grumbled.

"Oh, I don't know, Jim. Mothers-in-law have been a target for humor since time was invented. You know there's a reason or they wouldn't continue to get laughs."

"Reason, my foot," grumbled Jim. "There's no reason at all. I'm telling you that mothers-in-law are all right. The mother-in-law is a great institution."

"First time I ever heard of a mother-in-law being classified as a great institution."

JIM HAS PROOF

"I can prove it. Wait here comes Richbaum."

They discussed the acoustics and went to Richbaum's office to arrange the final details of the undertaking.

Curtis and Ditson were well pleased with the outcome and it wasn't until they were that Curtis remembered to stand for the mother-in-law. They had been going a long course now and were getting themselves all over a rough hole when Curtis remembered one of their brief lectures on the subject of mothers-in-law.

"By the way, Jim, have you a mother-in-law?"

"Sure," said Jim.

"Get along all right with her?"

"Sure."

"Lots of people don't have as much luck. You said something the other day about a mother-in-law being a great institution. Have you any particular grounds for that assertion?"

"Guess I'll tell you about it. You have met Mrs. Ditson a couple times."

"Sure have. She's a mighty pretty little woman and cheerful. I noticed that especially."

"Yeah, she's cheerful now. I guess all wives have a sort of cycle after the honeymoon is over. I'm speaking of wives who are not married to men like me, who have to work for a living and cannot afford help."

EXPLAINS SITUATION

"Not to anything like that but I've been a little cottage and thought that we were pretty well fixed. Well, things were pretty fine for a while, we got along all right. But after awhile I noticed that Kate was losing her cheerfulness. I said nothing for a long while, thought perhaps she was off her feet but she didn't seem to snap out of it.

"Perhaps it was your own fault, Jim."

"Not exactly. I was working right along as usual giving Kate the same amount of household money and money for new clothes whenever she suggested anything like that and I wasn't spoiling around in the least, so she couldn't complain that I wasn't the ideal husband except that I was no Rockefeller financially."

"But she knew that when she married you didn't she, Jim?"

"Sure she knew it. I put up no bluff, told her just how I stood, how much I had saved and what I was earning, so she couldn't kick after we were married. At any rate she got me going after a while. Nothing seemed to please her. She seemed depressed, didn't care to go out much, and the many things that used to give us a good laugh never got a smile out of her.

"Did you suggest a doctor?"

"Sure did. She said she didn't need a doctor, that all she needed was a rest."

"Yeah, rest."

"You know I wouldn't make a woman do that old man. No the washing was sent out. She had to keep the house clean, make up a bed and get my breakfast and dinner . . . that was all. She didn't seem to mind it at first. Then she got so she used to complain a lot. I'd start for the office and she would say that I had it mighty easy sitting at a desk a few hours. When I'd get home she would talk about what a cinch a man had come home and his work was over. I used to offer to help dry the dishes but I was rather clumsy and broke a few.

"Kate even hinted that I did it purposely.

"I'm ahead of you, Jim . . . she wanted a housemaid.

"Perhaps, but she didn't need one. She had been used to working at home. She was the oldest of five children. It wasn't as though I'd married some girl from a wealthy family who never had lifted a finger. Well, one evening she was so glum I asked her to snap out of it and try and smile for a change and she threw a sort of weeping fit.

"Morning, noon and night the world without end, that's my life sentence, she said to me. I told her that plenty of women would be tickled pink with a life sentence like that, but she got up and ran to her room. Well, six things went on like this until I was getting nervous and ready to bawl her out, which I never did. About a week later I came home and there was no Kate, only a note to me. In the note she wrote that she simply couldn't stand a life of drudgery. She wrote that she was a slave from morning to night and up and slave again in the morning.

"Tough on you, Jim.

"Yes and no. Mind you, I was crazy about Kate and all that but I had rather live alone than have a living hunk of gloom about all the time. She wrote that she had gone home to her mother, where she would get some appreciation and a nice long rest, and that if in time I decided that I wanted her back and could manage to treat her as a life mate and not as a mere servant, she might come. I didn't like her word 'might' so telephoned to her mother, who lived next to Germantown, and asked her how Kate was.

SEEKS ADVICE

"You'd been friendly with her?"

"Sure. She never butted in. Twice she had made just a week-end visit with us. Kate's all right, Jim, she said.

"I wouldn't worry too much, Jim, she says, so I asked her what she advised.

"Nothing, get along as well as you can, was all she said.

"Tough on you, Jim.

"It was and still it wasn't. Saturday I sent her some money. She sent it back, saying that she was no object of charity. Well, cut, her mother told me all about it afterwards. It seems that her aunt, one of those women who enjoy poor health, was living with her mother then and three of her brothers were at home. The other one, a sister, was also married. Well, her father, who has a small brush factory, boarded the foreman, so there were seven there and Kate made eight. Kate protested that she didn't think her mother had to keep boarders, but her mother told her that her father's business had taken a slump. They couldn't send out any washing and they couldn't afford to buy a lot of baker's stuff, so Kate's mother petted her and hugged her and told her how lucky it was she had come home. Kate balked at baking, at doing the washing, at getting meals for the brothers and at doing everything. Her mother got her up at 6 every morning and it was 8 when the dishes were done at night, then there was mending to do. And her mother decided to do over the dining room and sitting room, repaint the woodwork and repaper."

"Gosh," said Curtis.

"I didn't know a thing about it at this time. I had visions of Kate sleeping until noon and playing the lady around the house for the rest of the day, and I was getting rather fed up on living alone, although I had a colored woman in to cook and she could sure cook.

WIFE RETURNS

"Well, sir, after those two rooms were renovated Kate's mother bought yards and yards of linens and started to make up a flock of bed clothing and such things, all in addition to the stacks of housework.

"One day I got nervous and telephoned Kate's mother again. 'Listen, Ma,' I said, 'I always called her 'Ma.' 'Listen, how's Kate?' And her mother said, 'Kate is getting just what is good for her, Jim.' So I says to her, 'I can afford to keep a maid now, tell her so.' 'Jim Ditson, don't you be a fool,' says Kate's mother, 'you can't afford to do anything of the sort, as long as there's only two of you and you've got a husky wife. You stay right as you are, you mark time.'

"Well?" Curtis said, to make him resume.

"Yeah, pretty well, thanks. It wasn't a week after this that I came home and found Kate there smiling and happy and a swell dinner cooked and the house shining like a brand new automobile. Kate gives me a hug and says 'Gee, Jim.' So I says 'Gee yourself, Kate,' and she chokes a little and says that she guessed she was a sort of a fool, but it was good to be home and that she had paid Hannah, my colored cook, and sent her along. Well, gradually I got it all from Kate's mother, how she had deliberately worked Kate almost to death to teach her what real housework was in a big family and what a cinch she had been having at home. So it gets me sore to hear some cheap fools spring dirty cracks about mothers-in-law. I'm telling you that the mother-in-law is a great institution!"

By Faith Baldwin

had been presented at court and all the rest of it and was supposed to make a good marriage. Later, before mother died, Aunt Jennie, the only one left of the family, tried to make overtures. But mother was proud and Dad wouldn't let her be anything else. Then after Dad's death I went to school teaching. And now Aunt Jennie is back after all these years and wants me to make my home with her. She traced me easily enough, and sent for me to come East. She aired me money and told me to come as quickly as I could, as she had plans for me. So I decided to fly. I've always wanted to make a long flight . . ."

FANCHON ENVIOUS

"No. Nor she me. Not even a good photograph. All she knows is that I have dark hair and blue eyes. . . . I wrote her that much. It's hard to describe yourself," said Evelyn self-consciously and I didn't have even a decent snapshot except the one taken of the two of us on the boat . . . do you remember? I sent that one," she said.

She drew a deep breath.

"No more teaching," she said "no more anything. I'm so happy," confessed Evelyn.

Fanchon looked at her. She envied her to the bottom of her soul. This girl was flying toward happiness. Toward something more than happiness; toward peace, safety, security, toward people of her own someone to whom she belonged, who would care for her. Fanchon felt her heart constrict with anguish. Happiness meant so little. She had been happy, for a while, with Tony, meeting the dark, ardent eyes, listening to the deep, ardent voice, seeing him smile, feeling his strong, brown hand. Tony's hand . . . she shuddered to think of it now . . . upon her own feeling his lips on hers. Tony's lips which lied and wise-cracked their way through life.

And she . . . she was flying toward what? Hiding, shrinking from the glance of every stranger, she who had once met every eye with her chin up and her own eyes clear. Flying to escape, flying to get away . . . a coward, a quitter, a shirker. But Tony had said she must.

LIVED ON PLANTATION

"You mustn't get mixed up in this, kid. You don't know anything. But all the same, you know too much. Tony's girl. They've all seen you. They'll look for you. You've got to get away. It's safer for you. And for me. And Rosie's on the war path!" said Tony.

Rosie. She had been Tony's girl once. Until Fanchon came on the scene, innocent, gay-hearted, accepting everything, even Tony, at face value.

Evelyn went on talking. About teaching in the very good, rather dull school. About the days back in Hawaii. "Funny, I never knew you then, Fanchon."

"Not so funny," Fanchon replied mechanically. "I was buried on a plantation most of my life you know. I rarely came to Honolulu."

She was silent, remembering the sun-steeped days and her father, who had been her friend, her guide, her teacher. Everything to her. She could not remember her mother. Only her father, her companion for 20 happy years, years which had run past swiftly and silently as sand from an hourglass.

IS RETICENT

The young man in the Eames party spoke to Evelyn, his eyes on Fanchon as he did so. The elderly woman leaned forward and said nervously, "I do hope I'm not going to be air sick!" The steward came from his mysterious, small quarters and started serving bouillon and sandwiches and answering the questions flung at him. In a very short space of time all the occupants of the cabin-plane seemed to draw together and become friends, as if their common adventure made conspirators of them.

"Oh!" said Evelyn, "isn't it exciting?"

The air was rough, for the moment. The sky was partly clouded over and it was very warm. Heat bumps were noticeable and Evelyn squealed in her rather simpering fashion. "Just like a scenic railway," she commented. Mrs. Eames turned slightly green and regarded the sandwich she held in her hand with an expression of fixed distaste.

The steward looked anxious.

"Is this your first flight, Miss Smith?" asked the Eames boy. Fanchon did not answer. When he repeated his question, she started and flushed, looking toward Evelyn. But Evelyn was chattering with Mr. Eames and had not heard.

"Yes," replied Fanchon, briefly.

She looked out of the window at the tremendous vista beyond and about and below them. She nodded, without speaking. Queer girl, he thought, turning to Evelyn. Much better looking than the other, but difficult. He disliked difficult women.

Calm? Fanchon smiled, secretly. Once, it would have meant so much to her, the sense of flight, the feel of wings. It meant nothing now save . . . escape. Only that. She had a sudden sickening mental vision of Tony in police headquarters. Handcuffs. Would they handcuff him . . . on suspicion? She heard them questioning him . . . she saw his brown face pale a little and his dark eyes glitter with menace.

LOVED TONY

But perhaps they wouldn't catch him. He'd said they wouldn't. "The cop doesn't live who can put the irons on me!" he'd boasted to her in that appalling hour of revelation. "I'll get away!"

Where had he gone? To whom? Rosie, who had loved him, who was now his enemy. He was surrounded by enemies. Fanchon clenched her small fists until the nails bit into her palms. Why had she run away? She had a moment's impulse to cry out like a mad woman, "Turn back, take me back, I say! You must!" How they would look and stare and murmur among themselves, the fat, complacent Eames and his fat, air-sick wife and his lean, sleek-haired son with whom Evelyn was giggling in her idiotic fashion. They would think she had gone crazy. Well, she had.

No. No. She couldn't help Tony in any way. The most she could do for him was to disappear, take the burden of one more worry from his shoulders. She owed him that much, for she had loved him. Or had thought so. Even all that had happened since could not efface the fact of her once having loved him.

House Frock in Larger Sizes
Pattern 2129
Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph 15c Practical Pattern

By ANNE ADAMS

The larger woman requires a house frock which is loosely comfortable, and yet which does not look as if comfort were its only requirement. This one is designed with short sleeves for ease in reaching a skirt slightly flared for plenty of width, and a waistline vaguely defined by a belt. The curved skirt line and a diamond-shaped insert on the bodice are both features that create an illusion of slenderness. Printed cotton linene, or one of the durable rayon fabrics would make up attractively in this model.

Sizes 40, 42, 44, 46, 48 and 50. Size 40 requires 2⅞ yards of 36-inch fabric. Yardage for every size, and simple, exact instructions are given. No dressmaking experience is necessary to make this model with our pattern.

Send FIFTEEN CENTS (15c) in coins or stamps (coins preferred), for each pattern. Write plainly your name, address and style number. BE SURE TO STATE SIZE WANTED.

That Extra Session

Gov. Pinchot Should Get Assurance, Before Calling It, That He Can Put His Program Through.

Gov. Pinchot repeated yesterday that he intends to call an extra session of the Legislature for the enactment of public utility legislation.

The Sun-Telegraph agrees with the Governor that there are evils calling for correction in the present system of regulating Pennsylvania's public utilities.

The Public Service Commission's action in granting the Pittsburgh Motor Coach Company a monopoly of bus service here and letting it charge 25 cents for a bus ride of a kind that costs only a dime in other large cities is an example.

But Gov. Pinchot failed to put his public utility program through the Legislature at its last session, and if an extra session is called the same men will be sitting in both the Senate and the House of Representatives. It would be interesting, therefore, to know on what Gov. Pinchot bases his apparent belief that he can accomplish with an extra session what he was unable to accomplish at the regular session.

Sessions of the Legislature cost the people of Pennsylvania not a little money, and Gov. Pinchot should not call an extra one unless he has positive assurance that it will not be a waste of money and time.

The New Firearms Act

It Is to Be Hoped It Will at Least Keep Pistols Out of the Hands of Boys.

The fatal shooting of a McKeesport boy by a 15-year-old companion again calls attention to the ease with which firearms may be obtained even by youngsters.

The boys figuring in this particular affair are said to have been members of a group who met in a shack, where they read crime stories and played with pistols. How many criminal gangs have originated in just such a way?

A new firearms act goes into effect September 1. It lays down rules for the selling and carrying of pistols and sawed-off shotguns. It requires persons handling such weapons to register with the sheriff and the police.

Similar legislation has had a salutary effect elsewhere. The new law will not result immediately in the disarming of criminals, but it may make it a little more difficult for them to obtain firearms. It is to be hoped the act will at least keep pistols out of the hands of boys.

New Ideas Boost Trade

Present Business Situation Spells Opportunity for People With Inventive Minds.

New ideas for products which meet new wants will help bring a return of prosperity.

For 20 years, the motorization of America, as the automobile industry grew from infancy to manhood, enormously stimulated national well-being.

After the depression of 1921, the development of the radio and other new devices likewise created a new background for growth and prosperity.

What new secrets can be shaken from the bushes of hidden knowledge in order to stimulate business?

Many have asked the question, and thousands of practical scientists, working in the great laboratories of the country, are trying to find the answer in the test tubes of industry.

In giving a hopeful view, Raymond Willoughby, in The Magazine of Business, concludes: "Men's minds always work harder in depressions. It is true that no customer-making force has yet appeared as the automobile or the radio is visible at the moment, when hundreds of new things are planned. Perhaps the cumulative effect of a thousand innovations will be equal to that of a single thing like the auto or radio."

The current business situation spells opportunity for the person of inventive mind.

The manager of a great retail business, in giving the specifications for success under present disturbed conditions, penetratingly pointed out: "To sell today, an article must have two points. It must be cheaper than it has been in recent years and it must have some point of newness so that the buyer feels justified in discarding the old. We have sold more men's bathing suits this year than ever before because our price was lower than it had ever been and we had a new style suit. We couldn't have sold such quantities of the old pattern at the lower price or the new pattern at the old price. But the two together were good."

While others complain of hard times, resourceful executives of more than 100 trend-bucking American corporations actually reported larger profits in the first half of 1931 than in the corresponding period of 1930.

Unclaimed Deposits

Escheat Proceedings Started by State Are a Reminder of the Commonness of Carelessness.

More than 14 years ago someone deposited 65,000 German marks in a Pittsburgh bank. The deposit has since remained unclaimed, and the Bureau of Escheats of the State Department of Revenue is engaged in an attempt to find the owner.

These German marks are now believed to be valueless, which may account for their being unclaimed. But what is to be said about the owners of thousands of dollars of American money, and of Liberty and other bonds, who deposited them in the banks years ago and have not been heard from by the banks since?

After these accounts have lain dormant for at least 14 years the Commonwealth attempts to find the depositors, and if it fails appropriates the deposits. The annual search, conducted largely by advertising, is now under way.

You probably cannot imagine yourself depositing any considerable sum of money which, because of some negligence on your part, would pass into the possession of the state. But many owners of these unclaimed deposits were no doubt as confident as you that they or their families would regain the money. Have your escheat proceedings bear melancholy witness to the fact that lack of carelessness.

Take Down That Bar, Sam!

Closing of the brewing industry not only keeps the farmer from disposing of many of his surplus grain crops but forces the nation to turn from wholesome light wines and beers to the more violent hard liquors, most of them poisonous bootleg.

Opening of the breweries would provide work for ONE MILLION TWO HUNDRED AND FIFTY THOUSAND MEN, now jobless and facing a winter of distress, if their unemployment continues.

Uncle Sam opens his ears to the voices of the Prohibition fanatics and politicians and closes them to the wishes of the SANE, SOBER, TEMPERANCE-LOVING MAJORITY OF THE AMERICAN PEOPLE.

Pinchot Urges Federal Aid for Unemployment

A SPEECH of timeliness and more than usual interest was that delivered yesterday by Gov. Pinchot, of Pennsylvania, before the Mayor's Employment Committee in Detroit.

He took for his subject "The Need to Get Ready to Take Care of the Unemployed During the Coming Winter."

He referred to the emergency which confronts the people of this country as a national emergency, and asserted that the NATION, WHICH ALONE HAS THE POWER OF EFFECTIVELY COPING WITH IT, MUST MEET IT.

In an editorial which appeared in this paper in its issue of July 9, we called attention to the fact that "Private charitable funds are inadequate to alleviate the suffering resulting from existing conditions and that many of these funds are nearing depletion while it is increasingly difficult to secure contributions."

We also stated, as Gov. Pinchot repeats, that "the private savings of the workers are virtually exhausted and that local and state governments, which have supplemented private relief funds, are reaching the limit of their legal capacity to borrow."

IN confirmation of the inadequacy of such aid as may be expected from action of the states, Gov. Pinchot cites the clause in the Constitution of Pennsylvania which prohibits the incurring of a debt beyond $1,000,000 and says "many other states are in the same predicament."

The situation is obviously beyond the reach, as Gov. Pinchot says, of philanthropy and private charity.

"It will take many solid American dollars," he continues, "CONTRIBUTED BY THE NATIONAL GOVERNMENT, to feed the needy before next spring. Whatever is necessary to that end is necessary to the safety, honor and welfare of the United States."

This is realistic talk. It is practical statesmanship. It is precisely in line with Mr. Hearst's proposal of a prosperity loan of $5,000,000,000.

BUT THE LATTER HAS THE ADVANTAGE OF BEING DEFINITE, CONCRETE AND ADEQUATE.

And it is constructive in that it envisages not only money to be expended for relief, but the use of the nation's credit for the revival of industry, and the recovery of prosperity.

Thus the expenditures, made for relief, would not be lost, but would quicken the nation's trade and commerce, and contribute strength to our credit and national well-being.

TIME and again, when there was ABLE LEADERSHIP at Washington, America was first to rush relief wherever there was distress, at home, or abroad.

Why does Washington hesitate now with 6,000,000 unemployed, many in acute distress, walking the streets of our cities, asking NOT CHARITY, NOT DOLES, BUT JOBS?

In the stirring words of Gov. Pinchot—

"If we can declare a moratorium to help Germany, if we can recommend a loan of a billion two hundred million dollars for Germany, what is there wrong in a federal loan to feed the needy in America!

"The saving of Germany is largely a question of protecting international loans. Very well. Let them be protected.

"But WHY NOT A LITTLE CARE FOR OUR OWN PEOPLE WHO CAN NO LONGER GET LOANS, EVEN FROM THE PAWNBROKER, BECAUSE THEY HAVE NOTHING LEFT TO PLEDGE!

"The government of the United States has appropriated money to give help to those in China, in India, in Ireland, in Cuba, in Italy, France, Germany and other countries.

"IF IT WAS RIGHT TO GIVE HELP TO SUCH FOREIGN PEOPLE ABROAD, WHY SHOULD IT BE WRONG TO GIVE SIMILAR HELP TO OUR OWN PEOPLE AT HOME!

"What we have done over and over again for the unfortunate in distant lands, we cannot fairly refuse to do for our own flesh and blood when they cry for help in our streets."

IF "Government is protection," it means protection for citizens in distress at home first and before helping needy foreigners abroad.

Under the Pinchot speech, and the facts in the case, it stands indicted at the bar of public opinion for neglect, WOEFUL NEGLECT.

To redeem itself let the administration summon Congress into special session, promptly to consider and promptly to pass the legislation to make effective the FIVE BILLION DOLLAR PROSPERITY LOAN, to be expended in a gigantic program of essential public works.

This would provide JOBS for the JOBLESS NOW, it would increase the buying power of the nation and the DEPRESSION WOULD BE OVER.

Tips for the Love-Seeker

Next to a sprained ankle first love is probably the most painful thing in a woman's life. It is only the last love from which she extracts any real comfort and happiness.

And all the little affairs and flirtations and heartaches in between are just research in the School of Experience.

Little by little, lesson by lesson a girl must learn.

That love is not an orchid which must be tenderly cultivated, but a wildflower which flourishes best where it is least expected and most discouraged.

That every woman is a love-seeker—and every man a love-dodger.

That most of a man's life is spent in praying for rain—and then wishing it would clear off. In pursuing a woman—and then trying to get past her, falling in love—and then trying to crawl out of it.

* * *

That whatever a man wins easily at cards or love, he is apt to regard as "velvet," and then throw away carelessly.

* * *

* * *

That three-quarters of a man's love is love of adventure—and three-quarters of a woman's love is love of conquest.

That every bachelor is "lonely" and every married man "misunderstood" on moonlight evenings and after the third cocktail.

That the average man's heart may have a secret sanctuary where only one woman may enter—but it is full of little ante-rooms which are seldom vacant.

That it is a folly for a woman to lose her beauty sleep, wondering where a man IS or what he MEANS. Because he is never where she thinks he is—and he probably doesn't mean ANYTHING. Besides, the thought of no woman ever kept a man awake nights, like the thought of going fishing next morning.

That letter-writing is a man's pet abomination and a woman's besetting passion. And the only way to charm a man with a love-letter is to refrain from writing it.

* * *

That woman loves to captivate man, to subjugate; but the real art consists in never letting a man know that he is a captive or a woman suspect that she is a subject.

That to a woman last year's love is a leaf in the Book of Memory—but to a man it is about as interesting as last year's almanac.

* * *

That the only way to find happiness in love is to take it, like medicine or religion, with blind faith—and a lot of philosophy—and smile like a thoroughbred, if it turns out a bitter dose.

* * *

That love is not all there is to life—but, to a woman, it's the plot, the theme, the incidental music and the climax.

ENGLAND DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McIntyre

LONDON, Aug. 14.—Among my souvenirs is a supposedly gold medal now a sickly green hard won in a L. A. W. "circle meet" back in a dim decade. From the hotel window this foggy morning I saw a bicycle renting stand across the way and the idea to explore London town on a bike was born.

I even thought of a tandem for my wife to join me but the look she bestowed at that bright notion ended that. So in an old suit and Boul Mich beret I pedaled away. Bicycling is like swimming. One never forgets. I swung into the saddle like a veteran.

Indeed I lifted a hand airily in a wave toward the hotel window where I was satisfied peeping was going on. I headed for Fleet street, ringing the bell merrily. I passed St. Paul's where shafts of golden light were sifting through the dusk of the church dipped down to the Thames and across London Bridge.

And from here on it is quite unnecessary to go into details. You have the word of a gentleman it was not my fault. There is a fleeting memory of a reckless motor truck bearing down from the general direction of Clapham road. I veered swiftly into Tooley street.

Something got into the blinking bicycle and it began to act up. There was a helter-skelter of flying feet, a crash into the curb and I was skidding across the sidewalk in a blur. A gentleman with a port wine nose helped me up and observed: "A bit of a nasty tumble, sir." It was quite that.

After dusting myself off and looking as foolish as it is possible for me to look—and there's a record to shoot at—I penetrated the group of children who surrounded the machine. It was not the same old bicycle. Handle bars were twisted, one tire was loose and a pedal flapped like a broken wing.

I bundled myself and other wreckage into a taxi and told the driver to drive down Mile End road a way and back through Bethnal Green until I could collect myself. And until my wife reads this it is at all—she does not know the finish of another Conrad in quest of his youth.

I get a neat jolt out of the English dowagers. They are seen everywhere at tea, refusing absolutely to accept the withering blight of age. At Claridge's there was one with nails a brilliant red, a dog collar of pearls puffing a gold tipped cigaret and coquettishly tete-a-tete with a blond young Nigel at a table. Now and then she would tap him archly with her lorgnette with a shyness as maidenly as a 16-year-old. O yes, she settled the tariff.

An undying myth is that Britain lacks humor. It doesn't wise crack but it knows real humor. Punch, to my notion, is still the most amusing periodical published. In a Soho restaurant the thoroughly British proprietor was being twitted by Hannen Swaffer for his slow trade. "I know," he said. "But nowadays if they eat chickens they want only white meat and if you serve them scallions they complain they are too strong. What I need is deodorized onions and double breasted chickens."

The newest gossip about the Prince of Wales at the moment is his astonishing revival of the straw hat. It had undergone the same collapse here as in America until His Highness appeared at Ascot races several weeks ago in a pebbly straw creation. It is a matter of record that since seven closed straw hat factories reopened and are going great guns.

Just as Wales popularity remains undiminished so does an American lady continue to sweep perfidious Albion off its collective feet. Lady Astor, of course. One of those perambulating human bulletin boards near Fenchurch proclaimed: "Lady Astor Goes Golfing Today." Thus does the trivial whim of a former Virginia beauty become the topic for a London "lunch edition" headline.

London's 8,000,000 take a deal of pride in Big Ben, which by the way is not the clock but the big bell that does the striking and named for Sir Benjamin Hall who directed its installation. Like other local clocks Big Ben is always wrong. Station clocks at King's Cross and St. Pancras, side by side generally vary about 15 minutes. So it goes.

The city is in the throat choking clutch of a clammy fog tonight leaving a delicate after-taste like melon. I wish they'd rig up a way to make their fogs taste like floating island.

LISTEN, WORLD

By Elsie Robinson

Now we are beginning to see the other side of the Russian scene . . . very different from the exciting picture of the young city Communists, drunk with radical ideas, laughing as they wreck old institutions, shouting as they build new Russia—

Now we see the sober side, the sad side, the muzick side. Muzick means peasant. Under the czar the peasant owned little or nothing—spent his life toiling on the landlord's soil. Then came the revolution, promising to divide the land among the muzicks . . . keeping its promise when the red days were over. Now comes another revolution—the muzick's revolution this time. All because the Soviet wants to take back the land again, turn all these little farms into big collective farms—"kolhozy."

Little farms, personal holdings, are bad business—according to the Soviet notion. Many of the muzicks worked hard. Some owned four, even five cows . . . many poods of grain. Some even stored up a little money. Soon there were prosperous farmers—koolacks. But this would never do! For what would become of Communism—of all working together for the common good—if individuals were allowed to prosper? So the koolacks were despised, heavily taxed, penalized in many ways. When even this did not stop their prosperity, they were "dekoolackized," stripped of their property, driven into exile.

But this did not put an end to the trouble. If the smart, thrifty muzick was a menace to Communism, so was the stupid, wasteful one. Lazy, ignorant, poor, these "bedniaks" and "seredniaks" lived with their livestock in small filthy houses at the mercy of fire, disease, drought and starvation. They worked when they pleased, very stupidly, with inadequate tools. They left 7 per cent of their land untilled, barren ridges which divided the farms instead of fences. They had no schools, hospitals, fire engines, libraries, newspapers, places of amusement, sewerage systems or water supplies. Millions of muzicks lived like that—lived like pigs. That was bad for Soviet morale. It was worse for the Soviet treasury. So a scheme was devised.

"We will do away with these small farms," said the Soviet. "We will persuade or force the muzicks to unite their land in big, collective farms. For the present we will let each man keep his own house, his clothes, a cow, some chickens, a strip of garden. But the rest he must put into the kolhozy. And he must pool his labor. Then all men will work together for the common good and share a common profit. And each village will be made modern. Given all modern advantages"—

A cruel, wicked plan—thought the muzick.

But the muzick cannot fight the government. So one by one the small farms are being swallowed up by the kolhozy. And those who rebel are dekoolackized or taxed until life becomes unendurable. Bitterly they watch the great, prosperous kolhozy spreading over rich acres, sending up splendid buildings.

For the kolhozy has done what the Soviet said it would. There are the hospital, the library, the community restaurants and nurseries, bakeries and movies, the great barns, the sanitary homes, the fine, blooded herds of cattle—

"Give us back our old life," they cry. "Yes, it is true that we have better tools, better houses, finer crops. But what do these things count if we are no longer free men . . . if we cannot work for ourselves . . . if we cannot keep our profit for ourselves? What is life worth to a man if you take away his personal pride, his privacy, his possessions? Nothing. Give us back our old life—"

That is what the old muzicks cry. But the young ones, who have no roots in the soil, who love an adventure, are content enough. They laugh at the old muzicks. They think the kolhozy will work.

Will it? I wonder. We've tried Communism time and again in human history. Even here, in some parts of America. And always, for a while, it has worked—always there was more industry, more order, more prosperity, "a better standard of living." But always, after a while, men preferred to go back to private life, even though it meant more poverty and discomfort.

Queer — you can't cure the human animal of his love for his own den and his own adventure and his own pile of bones. Communism—it's a beautiful ideal, an intelligent ideal, a profitable ideal. But will it ever work? What do you think?

Isn't It So?

Man may be superior, but he can't keep track of four bridge hands and three scandals all at once.

It isn't until after a man is married that he begins to doubt the expression that it is the woman who pays and pays and pays.

ONCE OVERS

By J. J. Mundy

An attractive girl in your establishment, do you attempt to vamp your boss?

You think it a pretty good way to retain your position or get an increase in salary, it isn't that you really care about him.

You are playing with fire.

Also you are hurting your reputation among your associates.

You are selling your good name cheap, and paying a high price at the same time, for no position is worth a bad name.

The man who would permit you to jeopardize your good standing in society would eventually be unscrupulous in his dealings with you.

Even though you do your utmost to please him he will discard you for one who provides the variety he seeks and demands.

There is only one outcome for you and you will be the loser.

You think to play a game to keep your job but instead you lose it.

Better go back to the little home town where you make less and keep to high ideals than to try the "vamp" game to gain more money. It does not last.
